Ridgway Invites Communists to Discuss Ending Korean War; No Hint of Answer

Sutton, Kelly Set for Nominations As Ulster County Clerk, Coroner

Wicks Raps Democrats In Capital

Says One More Wrong Decision Will Send U. S. to Disaster in Troubled Times

Crowd Attends

Two Candidates Holding Offices at Present in Efficient Way

As The Freeman went to press today, the unofficial Republican county convention was in progress at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium to nominate candidates for two county offices.

Harry D. Sutton, of Plattekill, present county clerk, was slated for renomination.

Ernest A. Kelly of Kingston was scheduled for the office of coroner, a post he has filled for several terms.

A crowd of delegates that began to gather long before 11 a. m. heard Senator Arthur H. Wicks of this city rap the national Democratic administration for its policies at home and abroad.

Fateful Period

"We face a fateful period in which one more wrong decision by an administration which rarely makes a right one can send our nation down the road to disaster and oblivion," said Wicks, who is majority leader of the state Senate and GOP chairman of Ulster county.

The principal speaker of the convention was to be Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson of White Plains, representative of the First Assembly District, regarded as one of the outstanding orators in the state Legislature. He has been serving since 1939.

Other Speakers

Other speakers were prominent local Republicans who made the speeches of nomination.

Assistant District Attorney Vincent G. Connelly, chairman of the Republican city committee, was to nominate Harry D. Sutton for county clerk. Surrogate Judge John B. Sterley of Kingston was to second the nomination and Andrew Montrola of Plattekill, a fellow townsman of Sutton, and prominent Republican in his area, was to add his sanction.

Attorney Howard C. St. John of Kingston, a well-known young Republican lawyer, was to propose the name of Ernest A. Kelly for coroner, and County Treasurer John T. Groves of Port Ewen was to second the nomination.

Wicks' Address

Senator Wicks' address was as follows:

We meet here today in troublous times. Indeed, our nation today is at what well may be the gravest point in our history. We are truly testing, as Lincoln said, whether this nation or any nation so dedicated can long endure. Already placed in a precarious position in both international and domestic affairs because of the incompetent and stupid action of a national administration nurtured too long on power of office alone, we face a fateful period in which one more wrong decision by an administration which rarely makes a right

Murder Suspect Is Named Abductor Of Engaged Girl

Fiance of 17-Year-Old Says Irwin Raped Her After She Received Ring

Washington, June 30 (AP)—A man already wanted for murder and kidnap was believed on the loose today with a 17-year-old girl he reportedly abducted and raped minutes after she got her engagement ring.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation said the fugitive is Warren Lee Irwin, accused of killing Mrs. Adeline Shagena, near Oxford, Mich., June 8 and kidnaping a woman June 19 at Detroit, Mich. She managed to escape him in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, after being his prisoner for a 15-hour ride across five states.

It was the second kidnap-rape case near Washington this week. Early Tuesday morning two youths forced a newly wedded 19-year-old girl from her home at Arlington, Va., and took her to a lonely place, where, she said, they ravished her repeatedly. The youths were captured within hours.

The new assault began within sight of one of the capital's most noted tourist landmarks — the Washington Monument.

Bound Fiance

Police said Carolyn Barker's fiance told them yesterday a gunman forced him to drive with the girl to nearby Falls Church, Va., Thursday evening. There, he told the police, he lay helplessly bound while his intended bride was raped nearby.

The fiance, a 19-year-old filling station attendant named Lawrence Gilbert, later picked Irwin's picture out of FBI files as the kidnaper.

The last trace the police had of the gunman and the girl came from an inter-urban bus driver who said they got off his bus in downtown Washington Thursday night. The FBI, capital police and police of surrounding states joined in pursuit. Police of the entire east coast were alerted.

Gave Warning

Police said Gilbert told them the gunman parted from him with the warning:

"Don't say anything about this to anyone for 24 hours or I'll kill the girl."

Gilbert kept mum until early Friday. Then, he gave the police this story:

He drove Miss Barker to the

81,000 Students Take Draft Test

Washington, June 30 (AP)—More than 81,000 students are expected to take a test today that may determine whether they'll be deferred in the draft.

Selective Service will conduct its third college qualification test at 1,036 centers throughout the nation.

Those scoring high enough can be deferred while attending college. It's up to their local draft boards, however, to pass on deferment claims.

Some 271,780 students took the two previous tests.

A fourth and final test will be held July 12, chiefly for students whose religious beliefs prevent them from taking the test on a Saturday.

Hiltebrants Ask Longer Ways for Minesweepers

The Department of Army, Corps of Engineers, announced today that application has been made through its Albany suboffice by the C. Hiltebrant Dry Dock Co., for a permit to construct two launching ways in the Rondout creek, west of Center street, Connelly.

A spokesman for the local concern said today that the application is in conjunction with its government contract to produce mine sweepers.

The department's notice said plans were on file in the Albany office for inspection. The applicant, it said, plans to build two wood, pile and timber launching ways, each 30 feet wide extending channelward 40 feet from the dock face. Smaller launching ways built under a department permit of April, 1941 are to be removed.

The outer ends of the proposed new piers will be about 25 feet shoreward of the project channel limit in the vicinity.

July 8 was set as the deadline for registering any criticism or complaint.

Patrolman Dies

JOSEPH P. FALLON

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Officer

Served 23 Years as Member of Local Police Force

Patrolman Joseph P. Fallon, 51, a member of the Kingston Police Department since June 11, 1928, died suddenly of a heart attack about 8:30 p. m. Friday at his home, 52 Lucas avenue.

Officer Fallon completed his regular Friday tour of duty, working the 4 a. m. to 12 noon shift in the radio prowl car.

About 7:15 p. m. he was first stricken and Dr. Abraham Feldman, the family physician, was summoned and treated the police officer.

The physician was recalled to the home in about an hour and Officer Fallon was later pronounced dead. Dr. Feldman, this morning, said his death was due to an acute coronary occlusion.

Shock to Police

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren, reached this morning by The Freeman, said he was shocked by the untimely death of Officer Fallon.

Chief Van Buren added "Joe Fallon was well liked throughout the city and in my own estimation I don't think he had a single enemy. His service to the department was good since his appointment and his presence will be missed by all."

Officer Fallon, who was born January 9, 1900, in Kingston, was formerly employed by the American Express, Co., Kingston.

During his 23 years as a policeman, Officer Fallon figured in important arrests by the Kingston Police Department. He was an alert patrolman familiar with all the demands of duty and a keen student of the laws which the department enforces.

While he served under Chief J. Allan Wood, Chief Charles Phinney and Chief Ernest Boss all regarded him as one of the most capable men on the force and on various occasions previous to the appointment of detectives, he was assigned to special duty in making arrests.

Officer Fallon was a member of the Excelsior Hose Company and the Police Benovolent Association.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth Moore Fallon; a son, Joseph P., Jr., a step-son William A. Deitz; four sisters, Mrs. I. C. Alliger, Pittsfield, Mass., Mrs. George W. Moore, Kingston; Mrs. Marguerite McGeeney, Brooklyn; and Miss Anna C. Fallon, Kingston; and two brothers, Edward C. Fallon, Brooklyn and Francis D. Fallon, Pittsfield, Mass.

The funeral will be held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue, Monday at 9:30 a. m., thence to St. Joseph's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered at 10:30 a. m. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

Truman Expected To Sign Stopgap Control Program

Washington, June 30 (AP) — President Truman has until midnight to decide whether he will accept a temporary, watered-down price control extension or abandon for at least a month his emergency powers over the nation's economy.

Congress left him no other choice when it passed yesterday a stopgap bill which would extend the Defense Production Act for the month of July and ban price rollbacks and additional price ceilings during that period.

Although Mr. Truman was expected to sign the measure to prevent complete collapse of the controls program, it represents a sharp setback for his administration.

He had fought hard—and is expected to continue fighting—for a two-year extension of the law plus increased powers he deems essential to halt inflation and help the defense effort.

The month-long extension Congress voted apparently bans rollbacks of the price of shoes, clothing, textiles and a long list of manufactured goods the Office of Price Administration (OPS) had ordered to go into effect Monday.

Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle had estimated these rollbacks alone would clip about $2,700,000,000 a year off costs to the consuming public.

Price Increases Due

Five billion dollars in price cuts will be lost to consumers over a year's time, DiSalle estimated, if the no-rollback decision stands.

"For the next 31 days, we'll just sit here and issue price increases," DiSalle told reporters today. The congressional action does not bar any scheduled roll-forwards."

DiSalle did shove through one rollback a few minutes ahead of the final votes on Capitol Hill.

He imposed ceilings on scrap

Prices Drop; Are Higher Than in '50

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Wholesale prices fell off 0.3 per cent in the week ended June 26, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported yesterday.

The bureau's over-all wholesale price index was still 15.1 per cent higher than a year ago. All major price groups declined except metal and metal products, fuel and lighting materials.

From mid-May to mid-June farm prices dipped 1.3 per cent the Agriculture Department said in a separate report. It was the fourth straight month farm prices fell, and brought them four per cent under the record high of February. No new farm products rose to where they could be placed under price controls.

United Air Lines Plane With 49 Aboard Reported Missing

Losing Fight Seen By Thailand Rebels

Street Battles Are Raging After Premier Is Seized by Navy

Bangkok, Thailand, June 30 (AP)—Thai Navy and Marine forces fought what appeared to be a losing battle today to set up a rebel government replacing kidnaped Premier Pibulsonggram.

Army and navy forces fought an artillery duel in the streets of Bangkok.

Some shells ripped through the American Embassy, situated between opposing forces.

Apparently no Americans or other foreigners were hurt in a night of heavy fighting, said William T. Turner, American charge d'affaires.

As he made this report over the telephone to the Associated Press, a bullet ricochetted into his living room. It lodged in the wall over his head.

The army, air force and police joined in a fight against the rebellious navy.

Royal Air Force planes bombed navy headquarters, across the Chao Phya river from Bangkok at 8 a. m. today (8 p. m. Friday E.S.T.). One bomb fell between the French Embassy and the Oriental Hotel. Three persons were injured.

No attempt was made to bomb the warship on which Pibulsonggram was reported held prisoner.

Pleas Are Ignored

The premier, kidnaped by a navy patrol at a public ceremony Saturday, broadcast a plea for opposing factions to get together. His supporters ignored it.

Army and air force ultimatums were issued to the navy and marines to surrender. When they were ignored, tanks, artillery and planes opened up on the rebels.

The fight raged throughout the

Farmer Says He Heard Loud Thump, Search on in Foothills of Rockies

Denver, June 30 (AP)—A farmer's report that he heard a loud "thump" early today sent searchers for a missing United Air Lines plane into the area around Loveland, 55 miles northwest of here.

The big DC6 Mainliner, with 49 persons aboard, was last heard from at 1:56 a. m. (Mountain Standard Time). It was one of United's first flights after a 10-day strike ended yesterday.

Don Uhrich, farmer living seven miles east of Loveland, said that sometime around 2 a. m. he heard the noise.

"It sounded like a big thump," the farmer said.

"It must have been a long way off because it didn't sound near as loud as the army plane that crashed three miles from here two years ago," he added.

A state patrol ground party went quickly to the scene, some 60 miles south of Cheyenne, in the sandy foothills of the Rocky Mountains.

Searching aircraft also concentrated on the area.

The big liner, carrying 44 passengers and a crew of five, was flying from San Francisco to Chicago by way of Salt Lake, Denver and Omaha.

The weather bureau reported slightly overcast skies, but no severe weather in the area when the plane last radioed its position at 1:56 a. m.

The plane radioed at 1:46 a. m. that it was at 15,000 feet over Cheyenne, ten minutes later, it reported it was at 8,500 feet, south of Cheyenne and would land in Denver at 2:10 a. m.

Nothing was heard from the plane after that.

Woman Is Injured

Adelaide Greenberg was injured Friday afternoon in a two-car accident just west of Kingston on the Onteora Trail when a car owned by Sidney Gussoff of Allaben and driven by Stanley Kreitman, Bronx, and a car of Luther S. D'Armett, Brooklyn, were in collision. She was taken to the Kingston Hospital suffering from contusions and injuries to her arm. State police from Lake Katrine investigated and reported the D'Armett car going east had stopped by an unidentified truck and then attempted to turn right to a gas station. The Gussoff car skidded and struck the rear of the D'Armett car.

Hard on Draft Boards

Louisville, Ky., June 30 (AP)—A cease-fire in Korea, although welcome to all concerned, would complicate the job of Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the nation's director of Selective Service, he said here yesterday. Hershey spoke to Kentucky draft officials and told them he wants local draft boards to have the final say in deferring college students. Local board members must use their judgment, he declared. Remarking about a possible cease-fire in Korea, he said if that happens, "everyone will yell, 'why draft me now?' "

Estimate Loss of 30 Lives in July 4 Traffic

Albany, June 30—Traffic accidents in New York state will claim 30 lives in three days because of the Fourth of July holiday, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Clifford J. Fletcher estimated today.

"Only a wholesale shakeup in driving habits will produce a different result," he said, pointing out that more than three million motor vehicles will be rolling over New York's congested highways in the July 3-5 period.

Last year, traffic accidents in the July 3-4-5 period resulted in 26 fatalities. Vehicle mileage has been increasing constantly this year and in the first quarter of the year traffic deaths in the state advanced 12 per cent.

Mr. Fletcher said excessive speed and the "deadly practice" of driving after drinking represent the foremost dangers.

Joining with national safety authorities in urging special care to offset extra hazards in heavy holiday traffic, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles offered these six tips for a safe trip:

1. Start early, before traffic is heavy, slow down at sundown.
2. Obey legal and common sense speed limits.
3. Keep your car under control at all times, so you can stop quickly if circumstances demand.
4. Keep a safe, clear stopping distance between you and the car ahead. Watch cars behind in your rear-view mirror.
5. Slow down before you get to an intersection or traffic signal.
6. Signal for turns well before turning—and avoid abrupt stops.

Troops at Battlefront Hopeful but Skeptical

Tokyo, June 30 (AP)—Every available radio in Japan and South Korea broadcast an invitation to the Communists today to talk about an end to the Korean war.

Fourteen hours after the broadcast started, there was no hint of an answer.

The invitation from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme United Nations commander, was addressed to the "commander-in-chief of Communist forces in Korea."

It suggested a conference aboard the Danish hospital ship Jutlandia in the harbor of Wonsan, shell-shattered Communist port on Korea's east coast.

The Jutlandia transferred her patients to the American hospital ship Haven, scrubbed out potential conference rooms, and awaited word to sail from the South Korean port of Pusan.

"We would go at a moment's notice," said Commodore Kai Hammerick.

In Tokyo a high U.N. officer cautioned:

"Folks ought to calm down a little. It's my guess that not a thing big will happen for hours, at least."

Troops along the relatively quiet battlefront were hopeful but skeptical.

Biggest battle action was another demonstration of allied artillery might, under the glare of 8,000,000 candlepower searchlights.

The blazing lights caught about 800 Chinese preparing to attack northeast of Kumhwa on the central front. U.N. batteries cut the Reds to pieces.

War as Usual

The war went on as usual for the navy and air force. U.N. planes made 200 sorties Saturday morning through overcast skies. They hit again at 15 air fields around the Red capital of Pyongyang. The fields have been bombed in 700 strikes within the last week.

Warships rounded out their first year of action on the Korean coasts Friday night. In twelve months they have fired 2,500,000 rounds. Favorite target has been Wonsan, suggested truce port.

In its first broadcast after General Ridgway offered to talk about a cease-fire, the Communist Pyongyang radio made no mention of it. Instead, the radio broadcast the usual war communique.

That was at 8 p. m. (5 a. m. EST) just 12 hours after the Allied Supreme Commander extended his invitation on instructions from Washington.

Meanwhile the South Korean cabinet met and laid down "five minimum requirements" under which it would accept a cease fire. They included withdrawal of Chinese troops, disarming North Koreans, and no outside aid of any kind to North Korea.

Ridgway's message laid down no conditions of any kind. Nor did it mention by name either the Chinese Field Commander, Gen Peng Teh-Huai, or the North Korean Commander, Premier Kim Il Sung.

Throughout the day General Ridgway remained in his office in the heart of excited Tokyo. Saturday night he gave a reception, attended by news executives.

The message, warmly received by U.N. delegates at United Nations, N. Y., made no mention to last week's cease-fire proposal by Jacob Malik, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister.

Ridgway's Message

Ridgway's bid was regarded as a dramatic challenge to the Communists for a showdown on peace. His message stated:

"As Commander-in-Chief of the United Nations Command, I have been instructed to communicate to you the following:

"I am informed that you may wish a meeting to discuss an armistice providing for the cessation of hostilities and all acts of armed force in Korea, with ade-

Iran Is Warned Of Consequences If Oil Is Seized

British Move Comes After Hague Court Starts Dispute Hearings for Injunction

Tehran, Iran, June 30 (AP)—Britain warned Iran in a note today that Iranian insistence on seizing control of British-owned oil installations might lead to the "gravest consequences."

The new British move in the struggle for control of oil in Iran came as the International Court of Justice at the Hague opened hearings on a British demand for an injunction against Iran's oil nationalization attempts.

British ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd handed the note to the Iranian Foreign Ministry. Its contents were revealed simultaneously in London and Tehran.

Terming Iran's actions stubborn and unwise, the British note warned that the government of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh would be held responsible for the safety of British subjects working in the southern Iranian oil fields. A British cruiser now is standing by at Abadan with a small Iranian frigate anchored nearby.

The note, signed by British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, outlined recent developments in the oil dispute. It said the impending shutdown of the world's largest refineries at Abadan "results solely from the present attitude of the Imperial (Iranian) government, which has not only refused repeated offers to negotiate but has persisted in pursuing without proper study or previous consultations a course of action which must have the gravest consequences."

May Withdraw Technicians

Illness May Call Replacing Malik

United Nations, N. Y., June 30 (AP) — Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik may eventually be replaced as Soviet chief delegate to the United Nations because of his recurring heart trouble.

This possibility was envisaged today in authoritative UN circles after it was learned that Malik actually was not feeling well in the last few days and was not putting on a diplomatic act to keep from talking to western delegates about his suggestions for a cease fire in Korea. He used a cane when he returned to the delegation house on Park avenue and he was not his usual jovial self.

If Malik is recalled while he is home on vacation this summer, it will be because of his physical condition and not because of any dissatisfaction in the Kremlin with his acts in the UN, these sources said. He expects to sail July 6 on a vacation of two months.

Flood Areas Get More Rain; Damage Runs Into Millions

(By The Associated Press)

More rain fell today over the flood-stricken areas of Kansas and Missouri but the rains over the South Louisania dry belt were hailed as a life saver for rice and sugar crops.

More flooding threatened in the water-logged Missouri and Kansas as levees which have held back flood waters during weeks of rain weakened. More than a half million acres of land in the two states already have been inundated.

Crop damage was estimated in the millions of dollars and there was much property damage. Hundreds of families have been forced from their homes along the bottomlands. The fall at Wichita yesterday measured 1.33 inches.

The 48-hours of rain in South Louisiana's rich rice fields ended the two-month drouth and saved the $40,000,000 crop. The falls measured more than three inches in some areas—the heaviest rain in the rice bowl since April 1.

Rain also fell today in the upper Mississippi Valley, the Great Lakes region and throughout the Appalachians and middle Atlantic states.

Warm, humid weather continued in the southeast but it is on the cool side in the northern states between the Rockies and the Great Lakes region. It was fair in the far west.

Although Mr. Truman was expected to sign the measure to prevent complete collapse of the controls program, it represents a sharp setback for his administration.

He had fought hard—and is expected to continue fighting—for a two-year extension of the law plus increased powers he deems essential to halt inflation and help the defense effort.

The month-long extension Congress voted apparently bans rollbacks of the price of shoes, clothing, textiles and a long list of manufactured goods the Office of Price Administration (OPS) had ordered to go into effect Monday.

Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle had estimated these rollbacks alone would clip about $2,700,000,000 a year off costs to the consuming public.

Price Increases Due

Five billion dollars in price cuts will be lost to consumers over a year's time, DiSalle estimated, if the no-rollback decision stands.

"For the next 31 days, we'll just sit here and issue price increases," DiSalle told reporters today. The congressional action does not bar any scheduled roll-forwards."

DiSalle did shove through one rollback a few minutes ahead of the final votes on Capitol Hill.

He imposed ceilings on scrap

Prices Drop; Are Higher Than in '50

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Wholesale prices fell off 0.3 per cent in the week ended June 26, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported yesterday.

The bureau's over-all wholesale price index was still 15.1 per cent higher than a year ago. All major price groups declined except metal and metal products, fuel and lighting materials.

From mid-May to mid-June farm prices dipped 1.3 per cent the Agriculture Department said in a separate report. It was the fourth straight month farm prices fell, and brought them four per cent under the record high of February. No new farm products rose to where they could be placed under price controls.

United Air Lines Plane With 49 Aboard Reported Missing

Losing Fight Seen By Thailand Rebels

Street Battles Are Raging After Premier Is Seized by Navy

Bangkok, Thailand, June 30 (AP)—Thai Navy and Marine forces fought what appeared to be a losing battle today to set up a rebel government replacing kidnaped Premier Pibulsonggram.

Army and navy forces fought an artillery duel in the streets of Bangkok.

Some shells ripped through the American Embassy, situated between opposing forces.

Apparently no Americans or other foreigners were hurt in a night of heavy fighting, said William T. Turner, American charge d'affaires.

As he made this report over the telephone to the Associated Press, a bullet ricochetted into his living room. It lodged in the wall over his head.

The army, air force and police joined in a fight against the rebellious navy.

Royal Air Force planes bombed navy headquarters, across the Chao Phya river from Bangkok at 8 a. m. today (8 p. m. Friday E.S.T.). One bomb fell between the French Embassy and the Oriental Hotel. Three persons were injured.

No attempt was made to bomb the warship on which Pibulsonggram was reported held prisoner.

Pleas Are Ignored

The premier, kidnaped by a navy patrol at a public ceremony Saturday, broadcast a plea for opposing factions to get together. His supporters ignored it.

Army and air force ultimatums were issued to the navy and marines to surrender. When they were ignored, tanks, artillery and planes opened up on the rebels.

The fight raged throughout the

Farmer Says He Heard Loud Thump, Search on in Foothills of Rockies

Denver, June 30 (AP)—A farmer's report that he heard a loud "thump" early today sent searchers for a missing United Air Lines plane into the area around Loveland, 55 miles northwest of here.

The big DC6 Mainliner, with 49 persons aboard, was last heard from at 1:56 a. m. (Mountain Standard Time). It was one of United's first flights after a 10-day strike ended yesterday.

Don Uhrich, farmer living seven miles east of Loveland, said that sometime around 2 a. m. he heard the noise.

"It sounded like a big thump," the farmer said.

"It must have been a long way off because it didn't sound near as loud as the army plane that crashed three miles from here two years ago," he added.

A state patrol ground party went quickly to the scene, some 60 miles south of Cheyenne, in the sandy foothills of the Rocky Mountains.

Searching aircraft also concentrated on the area.

The big liner, carrying 44 passengers and a crew of five, was flying from San Francisco to Chicago by way of Salt Lake, Denver and Omaha.

The weather bureau reported slightly overcast skies, but no severe weather in the area when the plane last radioed its position at 1:56 a. m.

The plane radioed at 1:46 a. m. that it was at 15,000 feet over Cheyenne, ten minutes later, it reported it was at 8,500 feet, south of Cheyenne and would land in Denver at 2:10 a. m.

Nothing was heard from the plane after that.

Woman Is Injured

Adelaide Greenberg was injured Friday afternoon in a two-car accident just west of Kingston on the Onteora Trail when a car owned by Sidney Gussoff of Allaben and driven by Stanley Kreitman, Bronx, and a car of Luther S. D'Armett, Brooklyn, were in collision. She was taken to the Kingston Hospital suffering from contusions and injuries to her arm. State police from Lake Katrine investigated and reported the D'Armett car going east had stopped by an unidentified truck and then attempted to turn right to a gas station. The Gussoff car skidded and struck the rear of the D'Armett car.

Hard on Draft Boards

Louisville, Ky., June 30 (AP)—A cease-fire in Korea, although welcome to all concerned, would complicate the job of Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the nation's director of Selective Service, he said here yesterday. Hershey spoke to Kentucky draft officials and told them he wants local draft boards to have the final say in deferring college students. Local board members must use their judgment, he declared. Remarking about a possible cease-fire in Korea, he said if that happens, "everyone will yell, 'why draft me now?'"

Estimate Loss of 30 Lives in July 4 Traffic

Albany, June 30—Traffic accidents in New York state will claim 30 lives in three days because of the Fourth of July holiday, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Clifford J. Fletcher estimated today.

"Only a wholesale shakeup in driving habits will produce a different result," he said, pointing out that more than three million motor vehicles will be rolling over New York's congested highways in the July 3-5 period.

Last year, traffic accidents in the July 3-4-5 period resulted in 26 fatalities. Vehicle mileage has been increasing constantly this year and in the first quarter of the year traffic deaths in the state advanced 12 per cent.

Mr. Fletcher said excessive speed and the "deadly practice" of driving after drinking represent the foremost dangers.

Joining with national safety authorities in urging special care to offset extra hazards in heavy holiday traffic, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles offered these six tips for a safe trip:

1. Start early, before traffic is heavy, slow down at sundown.
2. Obey legal and common sense speed limits.
3. Keep your car under control at all times, so you can stop quickly if circumstances demand.
4. Keep a safe, clear stopping distance between you and the car ahead. Watch cars behind in your rear-view mirror.
5. Slow down before you get to an intersection or traffic signal.
6. Signal for turns well before turning—and avoid abrupt stops.

Troops at Battlefront Hopeful but Skeptical

Tokyo, June 30 (AP)—Every available radio in Japan and South Korea broadcast an invitation to the Communists today to talk about an end to the Korean war.

Fourteen hours after the broadcast started, there was no hint of an answer.

The invitation from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme United Nations commander, was addressed to the "commander-in-chief of Communist forces in Korea."

It suggested a conference aboard the Danish hospital ship Jutlandia in the harbor of Wonsan, shell-shattered Communist port on Korea's east coast.

The Jutlandia transferred her patients to the American hospital ship Haven, scrubbed out potential conference rooms, and awaited word to sail from the South Korean port of Pusan.

"We would go at a moment's notice," said Commodore Kai Hammerick.

In Tokyo a high U.N. officer cautioned:

"Folks ought to calm down a little. It's my guess that not a thing big will happen for hours, at least."

Troops along the relatively quiet battlefront were hopeful but skeptical.

Biggest battle action was another demonstration of allied artillery might, under the glare of 8,000,000 candlepower searchlights.

The blazing lights caught about 800 Chinese preparing to attack northeast of Kumhwa on the central front. U.N. batteries cut the Reds to pieces.

War as Usual

The war went on as usual for the navy and air force. U.N. planes made 200 sorties Saturday morning through overcast skies. They hit again at 15 air fields around the Red capital of Pyongyang. The fields have been bombed in 700 strikes within the last week.

Warships rounded out their first year of action on the Korean coasts Friday night. In twelve months they have fired 2,500,000 rounds. Favorite target has been Wonsan, suggested truce port.

In its first broadcast after General Ridgway offered to talk about a cease-fire, the Communist Pyongyang radio made no mention of it. Instead, the radio broadcast the usual war communique.

That was at 8 p. m. (5 a. m. EST) just 12 hours after the Allied Supreme Commander extended his invitation on instructions from Washington.

Meanwhile the South Korean cabinet met and laid down "five minimum requirements" under which it would accept a cease fire. They included withdrawal of Chinese troops, disarming North Koreans, and no outside aid of any kind to North Korea.

Ridgway's message laid down no conditions of any kind. Nor did it mention by name either the Chinese Field Commander, Gen Peng Teh-Huai, or the North Korean Commander, Premier Kim Il Sung.

Throughout the day General Ridgway remained in his office in the heart of excited Tokyo. Saturday night he gave a reception, attended by news executives.

The message, warmly received by U.N. delegates at United Nations, N. Y., made no mention to last week's cease-fire proposal by Jacob Malik, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister.

Ridgway's Message

Ridgway's bid was regarded as a dramatic challenge to the Communists for a showdown on peace. His message stated:

"As Commander-in-Chief of the United Nations Command, I have been instructed to communicate to you the following:

"I am informed that you may wish a meeting to discuss an armistice providing for the cessation of hostilities and all acts of armed force in Korea, with ade-

Iran Is Warned Of Consequences If Oil Is Seized

British Move Comes After Hague Court Starts Dispute Hearings for Injunction

Tehran, Iran, June 30 (AP)—Britain warned Iran in a note today that Iranian insistence on seizing control of British-owned oil installations might lead to the "gravest consequences."

The new British move in the struggle for control of oil in Iran came as the International Court of Justice at the Hague opened hearings on a British demand for an injunction against Iran's oil nationalization attempts.

British ambassador Sir Francis Shepherd handed the note to the Iranian Foreign Ministry. Its contents were revealed simultaneously in London and Tehran.

Terming Iran's actions stubborn and unwise, the British note warned that the government of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh would be held responsible for the safety of British subjects working in the southern Iranian oil fields. A British cruiser now is standing by at Abadan with a small Iranian frigate anchored nearby.

The note, signed by British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, outlined recent developments in the oil dispute. It said the impending shutdown of the world's largest refineries at Abadan "results solely from the present attitude of the Imperial (Iranian) government, which has not only refused repeated offers to negotiate but has persisted in pursuing without proper study or previous consultations a course of action which must have the gravest consequences."

May Withdraw Technicians

The note said British techni-

Illness May Call Replacing Malik

United Nations, N. Y., June 30 (AP) — Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik may eventually be replaced as Soviet chief delegate to the United Nations because of his recurring heart trouble.

This possibility was envisaged today in authoritative UN circles after it was learned that Malik actually was not feeling well in the last few days and was not putting on a diplomatic act to keep from talking to western delegates about his suggestions for a cease fire in Korea. He used a cane when he returned to the delegation house on Park avenue and he was not his usual jovial self.

If Malik is recalled while he is home on vacation this summer, it will be because of his physical condition and not because of any dissatisfaction in the Kremlin with his acts in the UN, these sources said. He expects to sail July 6 on a vacation of two months.

Flood Areas Get More Rain; Damage Runs Into Millions

(By The Associated Press)

More rain fell today over the flood-stricken areas of Kansas and Missouri but the rains over the South Louisania dry belt were hailed as a life saver for rice and sugar crops.

More flooding threatened in the water-logged Missouri and Kansas as levees which have held back flood waters during weeks of rain weakened. More than a half million acres of land in the two states already have been inundated.

Crop damage was estimated in the millions of dollars and there was much property damage. Hundreds of families have been forced from their homes along the bottomlands. The fall at Wichita yesterday measured 1.33 inches.

The 48-hours of rain in South Louisiana's rich rice fields ended the two-month drouth and saved the $40,000,000 crop. The falls measured more than three inches in some areas—the heaviest rain in the rice bowl since April 1.

Rain also fell today in the upper Mississippi Valley, the Great Lakes region and throughout the Appalachians and middle Atlantic states.

Warm, humid weather continued in the southeast but it is on the cool side in the northern states between the Rockies and the Great Lakes region. It was fair in the far west.

'Freedom Under God' Supported by Church

The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the Old First Reformed Church, today pledged his support to a nation-wide "Freedom Under God" observance of the Fourth of July, sponsored by 50 famous Americans including Herbert Hoover, former president, and General Douglas MacArthur.

According to the Rev. Mr. Oudemool, the 175th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence will be observed by churches, including the Old First Reformed Church, ringing their bells at noon July 4; by clergymen of all denominations preaching sermons on "Freedom Under God" and by millions of Americans pausing to read the Declaration of Independence.

Sponsor of this celebration is a newly formed "Committee to Proclaim Liberty." Membership includes top-ranking figures in religion, labor, management, education, government and the entertainment world. The committee name is based on the Old Testament words: "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof:" The theme of the committee is "It's time for all Americans to again thank God for their Freedom," based on a quotation by John Adams, who, in 1776, declared: "It ought to be commemorated as a day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty." Adams was speaking of America's first Independence Day. On that occasion church bells rang. Prayers were said. Copies of the Declaration of Independence were read by everyone.

The Old First Reformed Church joins with thousands of other churches over the country in reviving this custom of reaffirming America's Freedom Under God.

Jacoby on Canasta

Be Alert and You Will Win

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The average Canasta player gives away a tremendous amount of information about his hand. He doesn't mean to do it, and he doesn't realize what he is giving away. Fortunately for him, in the average game his opponents are not alert enough to gather in the information that is being handed out.

Let me illustrate this with an example from actual play. Both sides had made unimportant melds, and the pack then became frozen. A long struggle for the frozen pack developed.

At length one player moaned and groaned and tremulously discarded a queen. This was the first queen that had appeared as a discard or as a meld.

This discard got by safely enough, and each of the other players made a safe discard. The tremulous player drew from the stock and got another queen — which he promptly discarded without even putting it into his hand.

Now, you card detectives, here's a problem for you. If you had to make a discard to that tremulous player, would it be safe or unsafe to throw a queen?

The answer is not even close. The chances are overwhelming that the tremulous player didn't throw a singleton queen into a big frozen pack. It's dollars to doughnuts that he broke up at least three of a kind. Certainly he didn't like to discard the first queen of the hand, but certainly he was making a play that had some element of safety. He had more queens in his hand.

There was no way for him to avoid giving that information away. If a man picks his discards at random, he is sure loser, but the opponents won't be able to work out the meaning of his discards. If a man picks his discards for a logical reason, he'll have a better chance to win, but the opponents may be able to work out the logic of those discards and thus learn something about the player's hand.

The big mistake came at the tremulous player's next turn. He drew a queen and discarded it without putting it into his hand. In other words, he made it clear that his hand had not changed. If he held queens before that play, he still held them after the play.

It would be suicidal to discard a queen to our tremulous hero. Just discard something else and thank him mentally for tipping you off by failing to put the card into his hand.

See how different the situation would be if he had put the queen into his hand and had then discarded it (or one of the other queens). It would then seem that he has discarded a second queen and that his hand has changed. In these circumstances, it is a fair chance that he has broken up his queens and no longer has a pair. You might well discard a queen to him on that assumption.

'Freedom Under God' Supported by Church

The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the Old First Reformed Church, today pledged his support to a nation-wide "Freedom Under God" observance of the Fourth of July, sponsored by 50 famous Americans including Herbert Hoover, former president, and General Douglas MacArthur.

According to the Rev. Mr. Oudemool, the 175th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence will be observed by churches, including the Old First Reformed Church, ringing their bells at noon July 4; by clergymen of all denominations preaching sermons on "Freedom Under God" and by millions of Americans pausing to read the Declaration of Independence.

Sponsor of this celebration is a newly formed "Committee to Proclaim Liberty." Membership includes top-ranking figures in religion, labor, management, education, government and the entertainment world. The committee name is based on the Old Testament words: "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof:" The theme of the committee is "It's time for all Americans to again thank God for their Freedom," based on a quotation by John Adams, who, in 1776, declared: "It ought to be commemorated as a day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty." Adams was speaking of America's first Independence Day. On that occasion church bells rang. Prayers were said. Copies of the Declaration of Independence were read by everyone.

The Old First Reformed Church joins with thousands of other churches over the country in reviving this custom of reaffirming America's Freedom Under God.

Jacoby on Canasta

Be Alert and You Will Win

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The average Canasta player gives away a tremendous amount of information about his hand. He doesn't mean to do it, and he doesn't realize what he is giving away. Fortunately for him, in the average game his opponents are not alert enough to gather in the information that is being handed out.

Let me illustrate this with an example from actual play. Both sides had made unimportant melds, and the pack then became frozen. A long struggle for the frozen pack developed.

At length one player moaned and groaned and tremulously discarded a queen. This was the first queen that had appeared as a discard or as a meld.

This discard got by safely enough, and each of the other players made a safe discard. The tremulous player drew from the stock and got another queen — which he promptly discarded without even putting it into his hand.

Now, you card detectives, here's a problem for you. If you had to make a discard to that tremulous player, would it be safe or unsafe to throw a queen?

The answer is not even close. The chances are overwhelming that the tremulous player didn't throw a singleton queen into a big frozen pack. It's dollars to doughnuts that he broke up at least three of a kind. Certainly he didn't like to discard the first queen of the hand, but certainly he was making a play that had some element of safety. He had more queens in his hand.

There was no way for him to avoid giving that information away. If a man picks his discards at random, he is sure loser, but the opponents won't be able to work out the meaning of his discards. If a man picks his discards for a logical reason, he'll have a better chance to win, but the opponents may be able to work out the logic of those discards and thus learn something about the player's hand.

The big mistake came at the tremulous player's next turn. He drew a queen and discarded it without putting it into his hand. In other words, he made it clear that his hand had not changed. If he held queens before that play, he still held them after the play.

It would be suicidal to discard a queen to our tremulous hero. Just discard something else and thank him mentally for tipping you off by failing to put the card into his hand.

See how different the situation would be if he had put the queen into his hand and had then discarded it (or one of the other queens). It would then seem that he has discarded a second queen and that his hand has changed. In these circumstances, it is a fair chance that he has broken up his queens and no longer has a pair. You might well discard a queen to him on that assumption.

Check Structure Of an Old House Before Investing

Before buying an old house, make sure it is structurally sound. The foundation, the roof and the framing should be checked closely to determine whether expensive repairs would be necessary.

Settling of a foundation usually can be detected by plaster cracks in interior walls. Most foundations will have settled sligthly, but this is not serious provided the setling stopped after a few years.

New Plaster Cracks a Warning

Big new plaster cracks, however, indicate that the settling has not stopped. Uneven floors, sticking doors and sagging door frames are other signs of severe foundation weakness. From within the basement, check the foundation walls for cracks and for dampness.

An easy way to inspect the roof is to examine the underside of the roof deck. If the roof leaks, there probably will be water stains on the deck sheathing. Water marks and paint blisters on ceilings and walls sometimes are caused by a leaky roof, too.

If the roof deck is sound, the condition of the roofing material on an old house is not of prime importance, because reroofing is not expensive.

Check for Termites

When inspecting the framing, look first at the joists. Light joists indicate the framing is flimsy throughout the house. Check sills for termites and "dry rot."

Make sure framing is nailed properly. This can be checked in the basement. If the cross braces between joists are nailed solidly, it usualy can be assumed that nailing in other parts of the house also is satisfactory.

Give House an Airing After Summer Closing

If your home has been closed during the summer, take advantage of each dry, warm day for the next few weeks to thoroughly air out the house by opening all windows from basement to attic.

During the summer, the closed house has been absorbing large quantities of moisture. Unless it is eliminated before the heating system is started, the moisture will warp doors and drawers and condensed vapor will be deposited on walls and ceilings carrying with it large quantities of dirt. Do not air the house on humid days, as this will admit more moisture.

Shun Fads in Plans For New Dwelling

Here are six points to remember in selection of the design for a new home:

1. Beware of fads in architecture: Styles of clothes and automobiles can change, but a home with lasting value must age well.
2. Avoid fakes in design. You will find fakes in the work of so-called modernists as much as in the styles they are revolting against. Good design reflects its purpose.
3. Don't strive for cute effects. They detract from any real beauty.
4. Never sacrifice livability for false appearances. Where flies and mosquitoes are prevalent, screened porches are more appropriate than unprotected and imposing brick terraces.
5. Beware of the hodge podge of finishing materials—brick here, stucco there, fieldstone in another spot, a patch of wood siding, and so on. Simplicity is the key to beauty.
6. Dodge all distortions. A Cape Cod design may lend itself to well-proportioned dormers, but a full-length false dormer to make it a two-story house destroys good appearance.

Zoning Laws Protect Owners of Property

A zoning law is a form of property insurance that cannot be obtained in any other way. The prospective home builder or home buyer should assure himself, before building or buying, that zoning restrictions prevent encroachment by factories or other establishments which would lower his property's value.

Even in an area covered by zoning regulations, property owners must be on guard that exemptions are not granted by local officials which may lead eventually to depreciation of the neighborhood. Any proposed changes must be advertised. In such cases, affected property owners should attend hearings on the matter. Unless protests are filed, officials usually will grant applications for variations.

Patching Old Roof

When an old roof begins to leak, it wears out uniformly and patching is seldom an effective means of repair, according to the National Bureau of Standards. In fact, new leaks might be started when workmen climb on the weak roofing. In most cases, the most practical way to make permanent roof repairs is to replace the roofing material or re-cover it.

Bristle Brush Easily Cleaned While Soft

Any bristle brush can be readily cleaned while it is still soft, with the proper thinner for the product in which it has been used. Use turpentine, followed by naphtha or mineral spirits, for a brush which has been in an oil base finish (paint, enamel or varnish). Alcohol should be used for a brush that has been in shellac or alcohol stain. A brush which has been in lacquer should be cleaned with a lacquer thinner — preferably one made by the same manufacturer who made the lacquer in which the brush was used.

Brushes which have been in calcimine, emulsions and other water-thinned paints should be cleaned in water.

Storm Sash Fastenings

When removing the storm sash with the advent of warm spring weather, it is advisable to clean and oil hinges or similar fastenings to protect them from rusting or deteriorating during the spring and summer. Fastenings left on the house should be firmly secured to the building and a protective coat of paint or varnish applied, if necessary. Then when the home-owner is ready to use them again in the fall, there will be no delays or expensive repairs to make.

Galvanized Steel Cans

Health and fire prevention authorities advise new home owners to make one of their first purchases a galvanized steel garbage can. These containers are recommended because their close-fitting covers keep rats and fire away from refuse. In addition to being both rat and fireproof they are zinc coated to prevent rust and corrosion.

Guide for Guest

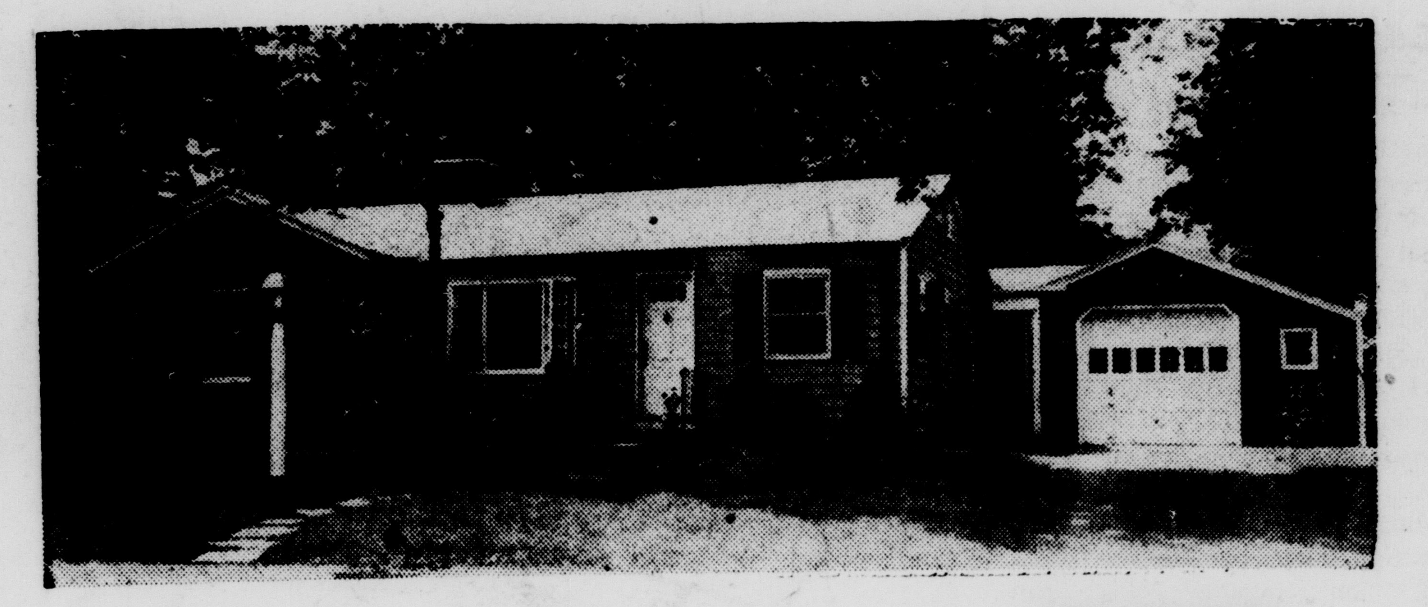
If guests arriving after dark have difficulty locating your house, one of the inconspicuous yet perfectly visible little numbered signs that reflect the lights from approaching motor cars planted near the curb in front of your house might be a happy investment.

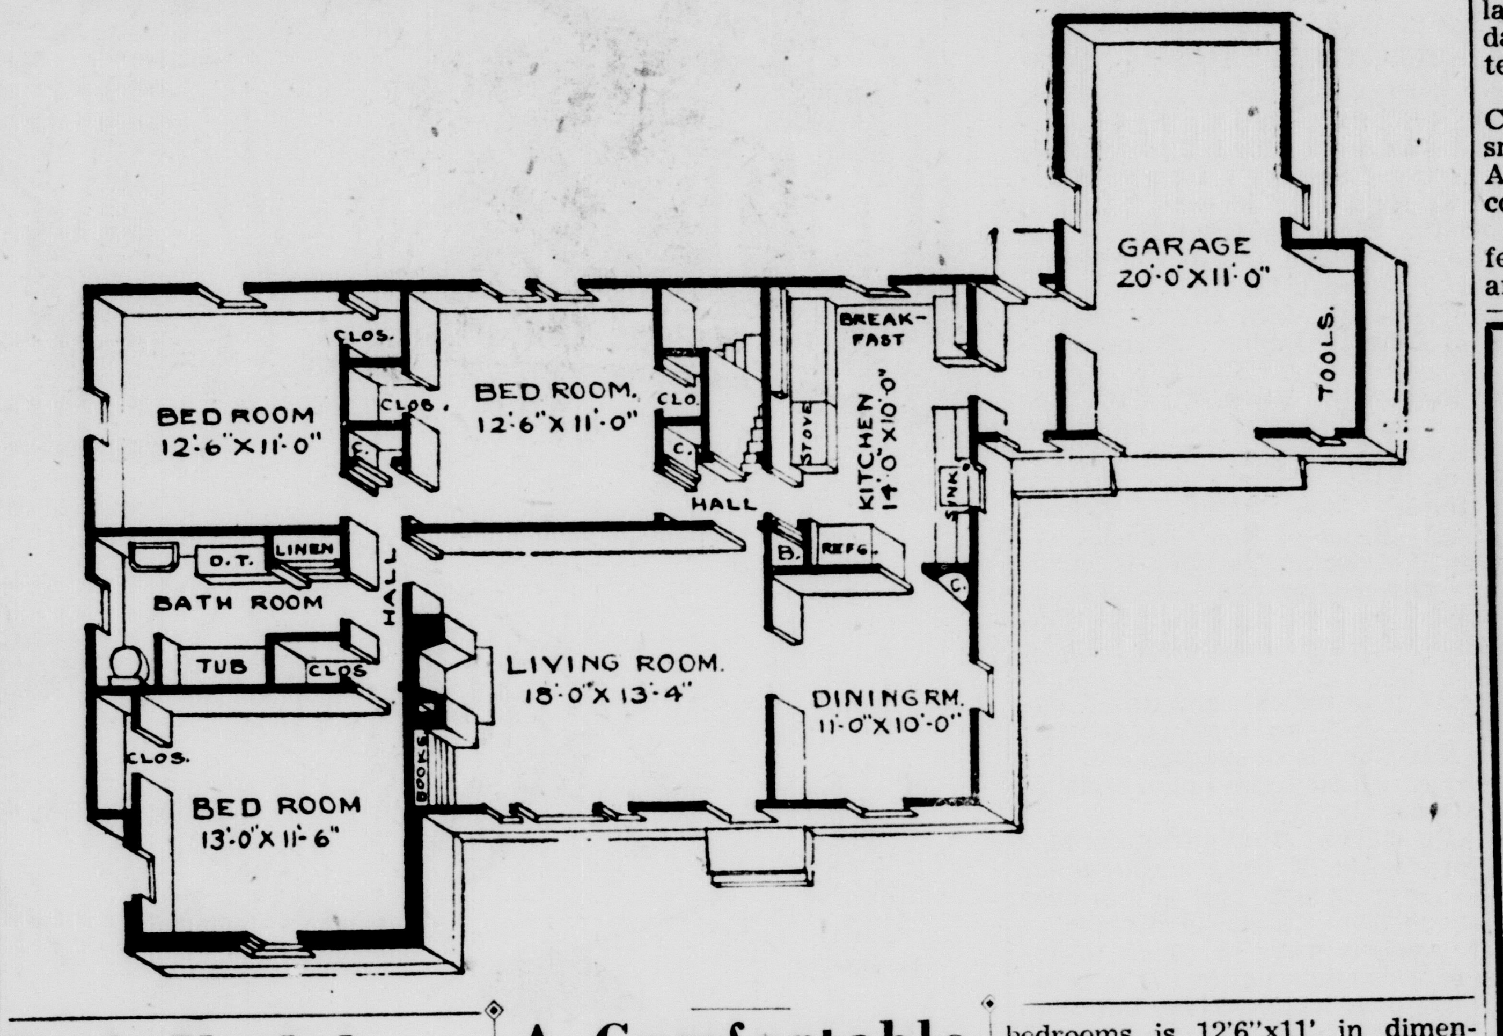
Wind Velocity

A wind velocity of around 100 miles per hour, blowing from the side, would be enough to tip over an automobile. If the car was facing into the wind it would require a wind velocity of 700 miles per hour to tip it over.

The National Geographic Society in Washington maintains a geographic library of 20,000 volumes.

THE MONROE





Study Needed For Hardware

The choice of metal for house hardware is most important. Much of the best hardware is made of brass and bronze. "Rust-proof" iron is used also, especially for early English and Italian fixtures where an iron finish is desired.

Brass is in a class by itself, and should be selected wherever possible. Glass knobs for bedrooms, and sometimes knobs for downstairs rooms, are desirable for the interior of the Colonial and modified houses of any type.

One Key for Several Locks

For outside doors it is well to choose cylinder locks. To avoid the necessity to buy a set of locks for the front, back and side doors, the garage door, even one's car door, that can all be opened with one key. There may also be a separate key for each lock that cannot be used on any of the other locks.

Probably not every closet door needs a lock, but one or two should be fitted with cylinder locks for extra protection. On the inner doors of houses there are often more locks than are necessary.

The amount of hardware needed should be carefully listed and checked up more than once to see that nothing is omitted. It is easy to find something quite important missing.

Locks and Hinges

Door hinges are known as "butts." For the front door, and for connecting doors on the first floor, ball bearing hinges or butts should be used. Where doors have less usage, the ordinary friction butt will serve. Doors between rooms require three butts—a pair and a half of hinges for each door. One pair will be sufficient for closet doors.

Door butts may well be made of cast steel with an imitation finish to match the solid metal of the knob. They do not receive the same wear and friction as the more exposed hardware so they can be safely cheapened.

Solid Metal Best

Plated hardware is inferior to the solid ware, but it costs less. The objection to it comes from its lack of durability. Plated finishes tend to wear off surfaces that are much handled, such as door knobs. Plated hardware of nickel or chromium is used as a matter of course in bathrooms and kitchens and is durable enough. But the other more fanciful finishes had better be avoided in favor of solid metal. If economy is necessary, it is better to limit the number of locks.

Alcove in a Hallway Makes Dining Space

If you have no dining room but do have a hallway with an alcove, convert the alcove into dining space. Use natural-finish furniture and keep it waxed. Keep the table and chairs small in scale so that they will not crowd the space.

Place the long narrow table against the long wall of the alcove, chairs at either end. Above the table in the centre of the wall, have recessed, shadow-box wall-shelves built-in. Paint the interior the same color as the walls. On the shelves arrange your table glassware, glass table ornaments and centre pieces. Flank this shadow-box with natural-finish closed wall cabinets to hold dishes and silver.

The small alcove has now become a feature of the house, with every inch made to count. The sparkle of the handmade American glassware on the shelves adds a brilliant accent, and may be doubled by using a glass centerpiece on the table between meals.

Spearhead Indication

A spearhead found in Alaska indicates to archeologists that Asiatic tribesmen crossed the Brooks Mountains of Alaska and wandered along a trail to Oregon some 9,500 years ago.

A Comfortable Spacious Ranch House

Rooms	Six
Closets	Eight
Bedrooms	Three
Cubage
House	20,500 ft.
Garage	3,500 ft.
Dimensions
House	44' x 26'
Overall	65' x 44'

Opening directly into the spacious living room, the front door is decorated by four small glass panels. A large picture window, flanked by casement windows, is located in the front wall of the living room.

The large fireplace centered in the left wall, is one of the living room's most attractive features. A bookshelf, to hold the ever-expanding family library, can be built in between the front wall and the fireplace. Since it measures 18' x 13'4" the living room has plenty of space for family and friends to gather for a good time.

A doorway in the rear of the left wall opens on a central hallway connecting with the bedrooms and the bath. A door in the back wall leads to another hallway connecting with the kitchen, the cellar stairs, one of the bedrooms and the other central hallway. An open archway in the right wall leads to the 11' x 10' dining room.

Connected directly with the kitchen by a doorway in the back wall, the dining room is ideally suited for ease in serving family dinners or for special party occasions. The kitchen itself is planned to make kitchen duties as simple and pleasant as possible, yet it contains enough room for a cheery little breakfast nook. Located at the rear of the room, the breakfast nook receives light and sunshine through the window in the back wall.

Beyond the doorway leading to the side porch or breezeway, is another line of working counters with the sink located under the side window. Thus, as you can see for yourself, everything is within easy reach in this 14' x 10' kitchen.

Not only does the attached porch or breezeway provide protected entrance for the garage, but it also is a pleasant spot for a Summer dining room.

Measuring 20' x 11', the garage also contains a special tool storage compartment that the man of the house is certain to appreciate. Windows in both the right and left walls provide light and ventilation while another small window in the front wall provides extra light for the tool storage section.

Separated from the kitchen by the cellar stairway, one of the bedrooms is 12'6"x11' in dimensions. Offering plenty of storage facilities in its two good sized closets, this room is well lighted by double windows in its back wall.

The back corner bedroom has good cross ventilation from the window in the back wall and the window in the left wall. This bedroom which measures 12'6" x 11', also boasts a large clothes closet.

Located between the two bedrooms in this left wing of the house, the large bathroom is thoroughly modern in every respect. It is well lighted by the window in the left wall and contains both a tub and a built in shower. You'll find the linen closet very convenient to all the bedrooms and any housewife is certain to appreciate its ample size.

You'll also put to good use the large closet opening on the connecting hall and placed between the bathroom and the front bedroom.

Beige Proves Popular For Pine Paneling

In fabrics or paint, beige is a popular shade — neutral enough to mix well with any colors, yet handsome enough to stand by itself.

For a different treatment for knotty pine paneling or a fine modern finish for clear pine walls it's unbeatable.

Prepare the surfaces by sanding with No. O or finer sandpaper and fill exposed nail holes with pure yellow beeswax or tinted non-shrinking crack filler. Always make up several wood color samples as test pieces before applying the stain to installed paneling. Use trims from the paneling to be stained and remember that large unbroken wall areas appear darker when stained than a small test piece.

Mix zinc oxide and lithopone in China wood oil tinted with a small amount of burnt sienna. Apply one coat and follow with a coat of wax.

Beige paneling provides a perfect backdrop for colorful modern art or furnishings.

In addition to being both rat and fireproof they are zinc coated to prevent rust and corrosion.

Guide for Guest

If guests arriving after dark have difficulty locating your house, one of the inconspicuous yet perfectly visible little numbered signs that reflect the lights from approaching motor cars planted near the curb in front of your house might be a happy investment.

Wind Velocity

A wind velocity of around 100 miles per hour, blowing from the side, would be enough to tip over an automobile. If the car was facing into the wind it would require a wind velocity of 700 miles per hour to tip it over.

Study Needed For Hardware

The choice of metal for house hardware is most important. Much of the best hardware is made of brass and bronze. "Rust-proof" iron is used also, especially for early English and Italian fixtures where an iron finish is desired.

Brass is in a class by itself, and should be selected wherever possible. Glass knobs for bedrooms, and sometimes knobs for downstairs rooms, are desirable for the interior of the Colonial and modified houses of any type.

One Key for Several Locks

For outside doors it is well to choose cylinder locks. To avoid the necessity to buy a set of locks for the front, back and side doors, the garage door, even one's car door, that can all be opened with one key. There may also be a separate key for each lock that cannot be used on any of the other locks.

Probably not every closet door needs a lock, but one or two should be fitted with cylinder locks for extra protection. On the inner doors of houses there are often more locks than are necessary.

The amount of hardware needed should be carefully listed and checked up more than once to see that nothing is omitted. It is easy to find something quite important missing.

Locks and Hinges

Door hinges are known as "butts." For the front door, and for connecting doors on the first floor, ball bearing hinges or butts should be used. Where doors have less usage, the ordinary friction butt will serve. Doors between rooms require three butts—a pair and a half of hinges for each door. One pair will be sufficient for closet doors.

Door butts may well be made of cast steel with an imitation finish to match the solid metal of the knob. They do not receive the same wear and friction as the more exposed hardware so they can be safely cheapened.

Solid Metal Best

Plated hardware is inferior to the solid ware, but it costs less. The objection to it comes from its lack of durability. Plated finishes tend to wear off surfaces that are much handled, such as door knobs. Plated hardware of nickel or chromium is used as a matter of course in bathrooms and kitchens and is durable enough. But the other more fanciful finishes had better be avoided in favor of solid metal. If economy is necessary, it is better to limit the number of locks.

Alcove in a Hallway Makes Dining Space

If you have no dining room but do have a hallway with an alcove, convert the alcove into dining space. Use natural-finish furniture and keep it waxed. Keep the table and chairs small in scale so that they will not crowd the space.

Place the long narrow table against the long wall of the alcove, chairs at either end. Above the table in the centre of the wall, have recessed, shadow-box wall-shelves built-in. Paint the interior the same color as the walls. On the shelves arrange your table glassware, glass table ornaments and centre pieces. Flank this shadow-box with natural-finish closed wall cabinets to hold dishes and silver.

The small alcove has now become a feature of the house, with every inch made to count. The sparkle of the handmade American glassware on the shelves adds a brilliant accent, and may be doubled by using a glass centerpiece on the table between meals.

Spearhead Indication

A spearhead found in Alaska indicates to archeologists that Asiatic tribesmen crossed the Brooks Mountains of Alaska and wandered along a trail to Oregon some 9,500 years ago.

A Comfortable Spacious Ranch House

Cubage
House	20,500 ft.
Garage	3,500 ft.
Dimensions
House	44' x 26'
Overall	65' x 44'

Opening directly into the spacious living room, the front door is decorated by four small glass panels. A large picture window, flanked by casement windows, is located in the front wall of the living room.

The large fireplace centered in the left wall, is one of the living room's most attractive features. A bookshelf, to hold the ever-expanding family library, can be built in between the front wall and the fireplace. Since it measures 18' x 13'4" the living room has plenty of space for family and friends to gather for a good time.

Connected directly with the kitchen by a doorway in the back wall, the dining room is ideally suited for ease in serving family dinners or for special party occasions. The kitchen itself is planned to make kitchen duties as simple and pleasant as possible, yet it contains enough room for a cheery little breakfast nook. Located at the rear of the room, the breakfast nook receives light and sunshine through the window in the back wall.

Beyond the doorway leading to the side porch or breezeway, is another line of working counters with the sink located under the side window. Thus, as you can see for yourself, everything is within easy reach in this 14' x 10' kitchen.

Not only does the attached porch or breezeway provide protected entrance for the garage, but it also is a pleasant spot for a Summer dining room.

Measuring 20' x 11', the garage also contains a special tool storage compartment that the man of the house is certain to appreciate. Windows in both the right and left walls provide light and ventilation while another small window in the front wall provides extra light for the tool storage section.

Separated from the kitchen by the cellar stairway, one of the bedrooms is 12'6"x11' in dimensions. Offering plenty of storage facilities in its two good sized closets, this room is well lighted by double windows in its back wall.

The back corner bedroom has good cross ventilation from the window in the back wall and the window in the left wall. This bedroom which measures 12'6" x 11', also boasts a large clothes closet.

Located between the two bedrooms in this left wing of the house, the large bathroom is thoroughly modern in every respect. It is well lighted by the window in the left wall and contains both a tub and a built in shower. You'll find the linen closet very convenient to all the bedrooms and any housewife is certain to appreciate its ample size.

You'll also put to good use the large closet opening on the connecting hall and placed between the bathroom and the front bedroom.

Beige Proves Popular For Pine Paneling

In fabrics or paint, beige is a popular shade — neutral enough to mix well with any colors, yet handsome enough to stand by itself.

For a different treatment for knotty pine paneling or a fine modern finish for clear pine walls it's unbeatable.

Prepare the surfaces by sanding with No. O or finer sandpaper and fill exposed nail holes with pure yellow beeswax or tinted non-shrinking crack filler. Always make up several wood color samples as test pieces before applying the stain to installed paneling. Use trims from the paneling to be stained and remember that large unbroken wall areas appear darker when stained than a small test piece.

Mix zinc oxide and lithopone in China wood oil tinted with a small amount of burnt sienna. Apply one coat and follow with a coat of wax.

Beige paneling provides a perfect backdrop for colorful modern art or furnishings.

THE PRESIDENT OF ECUADOR

Ecuador is not a very big country. But the little South American nation has a big president, both in size and ability. When he was elected in 1947 after there had been five presidents in 11 months, Galo Plaza-Lasso established a democratic regime that has lasted ever since.

President Plaza, who was born in Brooklyn when his father was Minister to the U. S., is back in this country for a state visit. A graying, six-feet-two man who once sold apples on Wall Street, he is trying to modernize Ecuador the way he modernized his family's rundown estate. He wiped out political revolution in his country, but he is going all out for agricultural and industrial revolution.

In a speech in Washington the other day, he echoed some North American ideals: We must be alert, he said, to defend freedom "through the printed word, in the classroom, in the workshop and the public square; and, if need be, if all else fails . . . then on the battlefield."

Like most other visitors of state, President Plaza would like to arrange a little help for his country from the U. S. That's to be expected, perhaps.

But he more than deserves the welcome mat the U. S. has rolled out in his honor. After the disheartening blows being struck against free speech and free press in the Argentine, President Plaza's views on the subject, coming from a South American, make encouraging reading.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

This year the nation's electric power industry will be celebrating the achievement of bringing electricity to 95 per cent of the farmers of America, and we pause for a moment of nostalgia for candlelight and the oil lamp.

"The disparity between rural living conditions and urban living conditions is fast disappearing," says Allan B. Kline, head of the Farm Bureau Federation, in commenting on rural electrification.

But something else will be disappearing, too. For the dwellers in cities and towns, the "disparity" Kline talks about was something to sort of look forward to when we visited Grandma on the farm, or took off for a summer at the cottage by the lake.

In the evening, the warm and sometimes flickering glow of the kerosene lamps gave off a pungence of its own, as much a part of the country flavor as a field of timothy baking in the sun. At bedtime, the candle that lighted your way upstairs (and sometimes also lighted an extra hour's forbidden reading) helped remind you of the day's soft shadows and cool-fragrance in the piney woods.

Well, the oil lamps seem to be going out in rural America now. Life in the country will be brighter, and electricity will make the chores easier. But we can't help noticing that the catalogs still show old-fashioned hurricane lamps, and oil lamps with curving, graceful chimneys. Most of them have wires and bulbs nowadays, but if you lean back and try real hard, maybe you can catch a faint whiff of kerosene.

THE ARTS IN RUSSIA

Pravda, official Communist Party newspaper, asked that a Stalin prize for work in opera, which was awarded to Russian composer Herman Zhukovsky, be canceled. The opera for which the prize was awarded is now called unrepresentative of the life on a collective farm which it depicted.

Official censorship of the arts is hard for Americans to understand. We are used to reading works by authors who criticize the government freely and who satirize governmental officials, sometimes without mercy. Some of our Pulitzer prize winners have been violent in their expressed unhappiness with the social, economic and cultural situation in this country.

Perhaps the Russian attitude is an indication that their leaders are aware of their own weakness and are frightened even by soft-spoken criticism.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

McCARTHY'S 60,000 WORDS

Senator Joe McCarthy put together a study of General George Marshall from the record made by his friends. The immediate newspaper reports were based not upon the senator's 60,000-word speech but on a supposition of what he might have said. In current journalism, this is called "highlighting," and is generally inaccurate and distorted.

So I waited until I could get a full copy of the speech; read the whole of the 60,000 words and realized that the senator had done a decent job of research and analysis. To make the matter clear, this is a partial bibliography that Senator McCarthy used in connection with this speech:

Winston Churchill, "The Hinge of Fate"; Admiral William Leahy, "I Was There"; Cordell Hull, "Memoirs of Cordell Hull, Vol. II"; Henry L. Stimson, "On Active Service"; James F. Byrnes, "Speaking Frankly"; Sumner Welles, "Seven Decisions that Shaped History"; Edward Stettinius, Jr., "Roosevelt and the Russians"; Robert Sherwood, "Roosevelt and Hopkins"; Hanson Baldwin, "Great Mistakes of the War"; General H. H. Arnold, "Global Mission"; General Claire Chennault, "Way of a Fighter"; General Lucius Clay, "Decision in Germany"; General Mark Clark, "Calculated Risk"; General John R. Deane, "Strange Alliance"; General Omar Bradley, "The War America Fought," "Life Magazine," April 30, 1951; Edgar Ansel Mowrer, "The Nightmare of American Foreign Policy"; Jonathan Daniels, "The Man of Independence"; Freda Utley, "The China Story"; Henry Wallace, "Soviet Asia Mission"; Robert Payne, "Mao Tse-tung—Ruler of Red China."

This bibliography is important because it shows not a single enemy—personal or political—of General Marshall, unless it be Winston Churchill with whom Marshall did not see eye-to-eye during phases of the war.

I do not propose here to indicate my own judgment of this speech; I shall do that at another time. The point of this piece is to suggest that the speech ought to be read; ought to be taken seriously; and should be discussed.

It is apparent throughout that Senator McCarthy, while not approving of General Marshall, devotes most of his long speech not to his own views but to quotations from others. He says:

". . . There are various ways in which to arrive at an estimate of a wartime figure. It is helpful if he will write his own recollections, but that General Marshall has declined to do, giving, as I understand it, the explanation that to do so would injure certain reputations. If all public figures accepted that thesis, I may remark in passing, the public would be even less enlightened than it is at present. In pursuit of an estimate, one may also gain information from official records. The records of the the joint chiefs of staff and the Anglo-American combined chiefs of staff are not open to my perusal. In the end the inquirer will also find in the archives of the enemy, when they become available, evidence regarding the behavior of his own leaders. If the archives of the Kremlin are ever open to us we shall have even deeper insight than we have today concerning the conduct of our current leaders. But as matters now stand, I have been forced to rely upon the memoirs and upon some other contemporary sources. I repeat that all these are friendly sources, and cannot be charged with attempts to injure General Marshall."

From that point on, McCarthy devotes himself to showing how General Marshall placed himself in posture to run the American participation in World War II, largely by quarrelling with Winston Churchill over where the second front was to be and how it was to be managed. It was Churchill versus Stalin, with Marshall on Stalin's side. Out of this particular decision, which Marshall finally won, Stalin gained mastery of eastern Europe.

McCarthy then goes on to discuss Yalta, raising the issue for the 1952 campaign:

"It was Marshall who stood at Roosevelt's elbow at Yalta, urging the grim necessity of bribing Stalin to get into the war. It was Marshall who submitted intelligence reports to support his argument, suppressing some truthful estimates, according to Welles, in Hanson Baldwin's book on page 81, and keeping from the stricken Roosevelt knowledge that the Japanese were even then feeling for peace in acknowledgment of defeat."

It is interesting that some writers insist upon calling all this hindsight. They forget that men like Herbert Hoover, Hugh Gibson, Arthur Bliss Lane, William C. Bullitt, Joseph P. Kennedy and many others, including, if I may be so immodest, myself, had lots to say on this subject from 1938 until today. As one lists such names, it would be most unjust not to include Charles Lindbergh, who was pilloried and destroyed as a public figure because he recognized early the truth of Russian imperialism.

That Body of Yours

APPLYING CORTISONE DIRECTLY

Ever since Drs. Banting and Best discovered insulin, research workers have been finding conditions besides diabetes in which insulin is of great value. And now it would seem that since the discovery of cortisone and ACTH as a specific treatment for arthritis, research workers are finding other uses for these miracle drugs with beneficial results in treating rheumatic fever, alcoholism, hay fever, gout and those chronic skin ailments, eczema and psoriasis. We are, therefore, not surprised to learn of other ailments helped by cortisone.

In Southern Medical Journal, Drs. Tom Spies and R. E. Stone report their results in the treatment of various skin, eye, and other conditions by the local application of cortisone. These physicians treated two patients with rheumatoid arthritis (the commonest form of rheumatism) associated with two forms of eye inflammation (iritis and uveitis), two patients with arthritis and allergic skin disease and two patients with chronic psoriasis (white patches covered with abundant silvery scales which bleed underneath when removed) by local application of cortisone acetate.

All six cases had been treated with three antihistamine substances all of which had failed to give relief. The eyes of the patient with eye disease (iritis and uveitis) appeared normal by the sixth day of local application of an opthalmic ointment, containing 25 mg. of cortisone acetate per grain. The skin inflammation due to allergy subsided completely after 13 days of daily applications of cortisone acetate ointment.

The patients with psoriasis—a most difficult skin disease to cure—were given three courses of cortisone acetate by injections into the muscles of doses of 1,200 mg., 300 mg., and 375 mg., respectively. From the time the cortisone treatment was started to the end of the third period of injections (nine weeks), the disfiguring patches had disappeared from 70 to 95 per cent. The most pronounced clearing was in the scalp and the surfaces of the elbows. To one of the patches which measured about ¾ inch by 1¼ inches located below the knee, 5 mg. of cortisone acetate per grain was applied twice daily. After 24 days of treatment this patch showed as much healing as had followed cortisone injections, whereas the untreated patches were unchanged or became worse. Results obtained in these patients show that cortisone acts as a sort of ferment changing the character of the cells or tissues. Cortisone is truly a miracle drug.

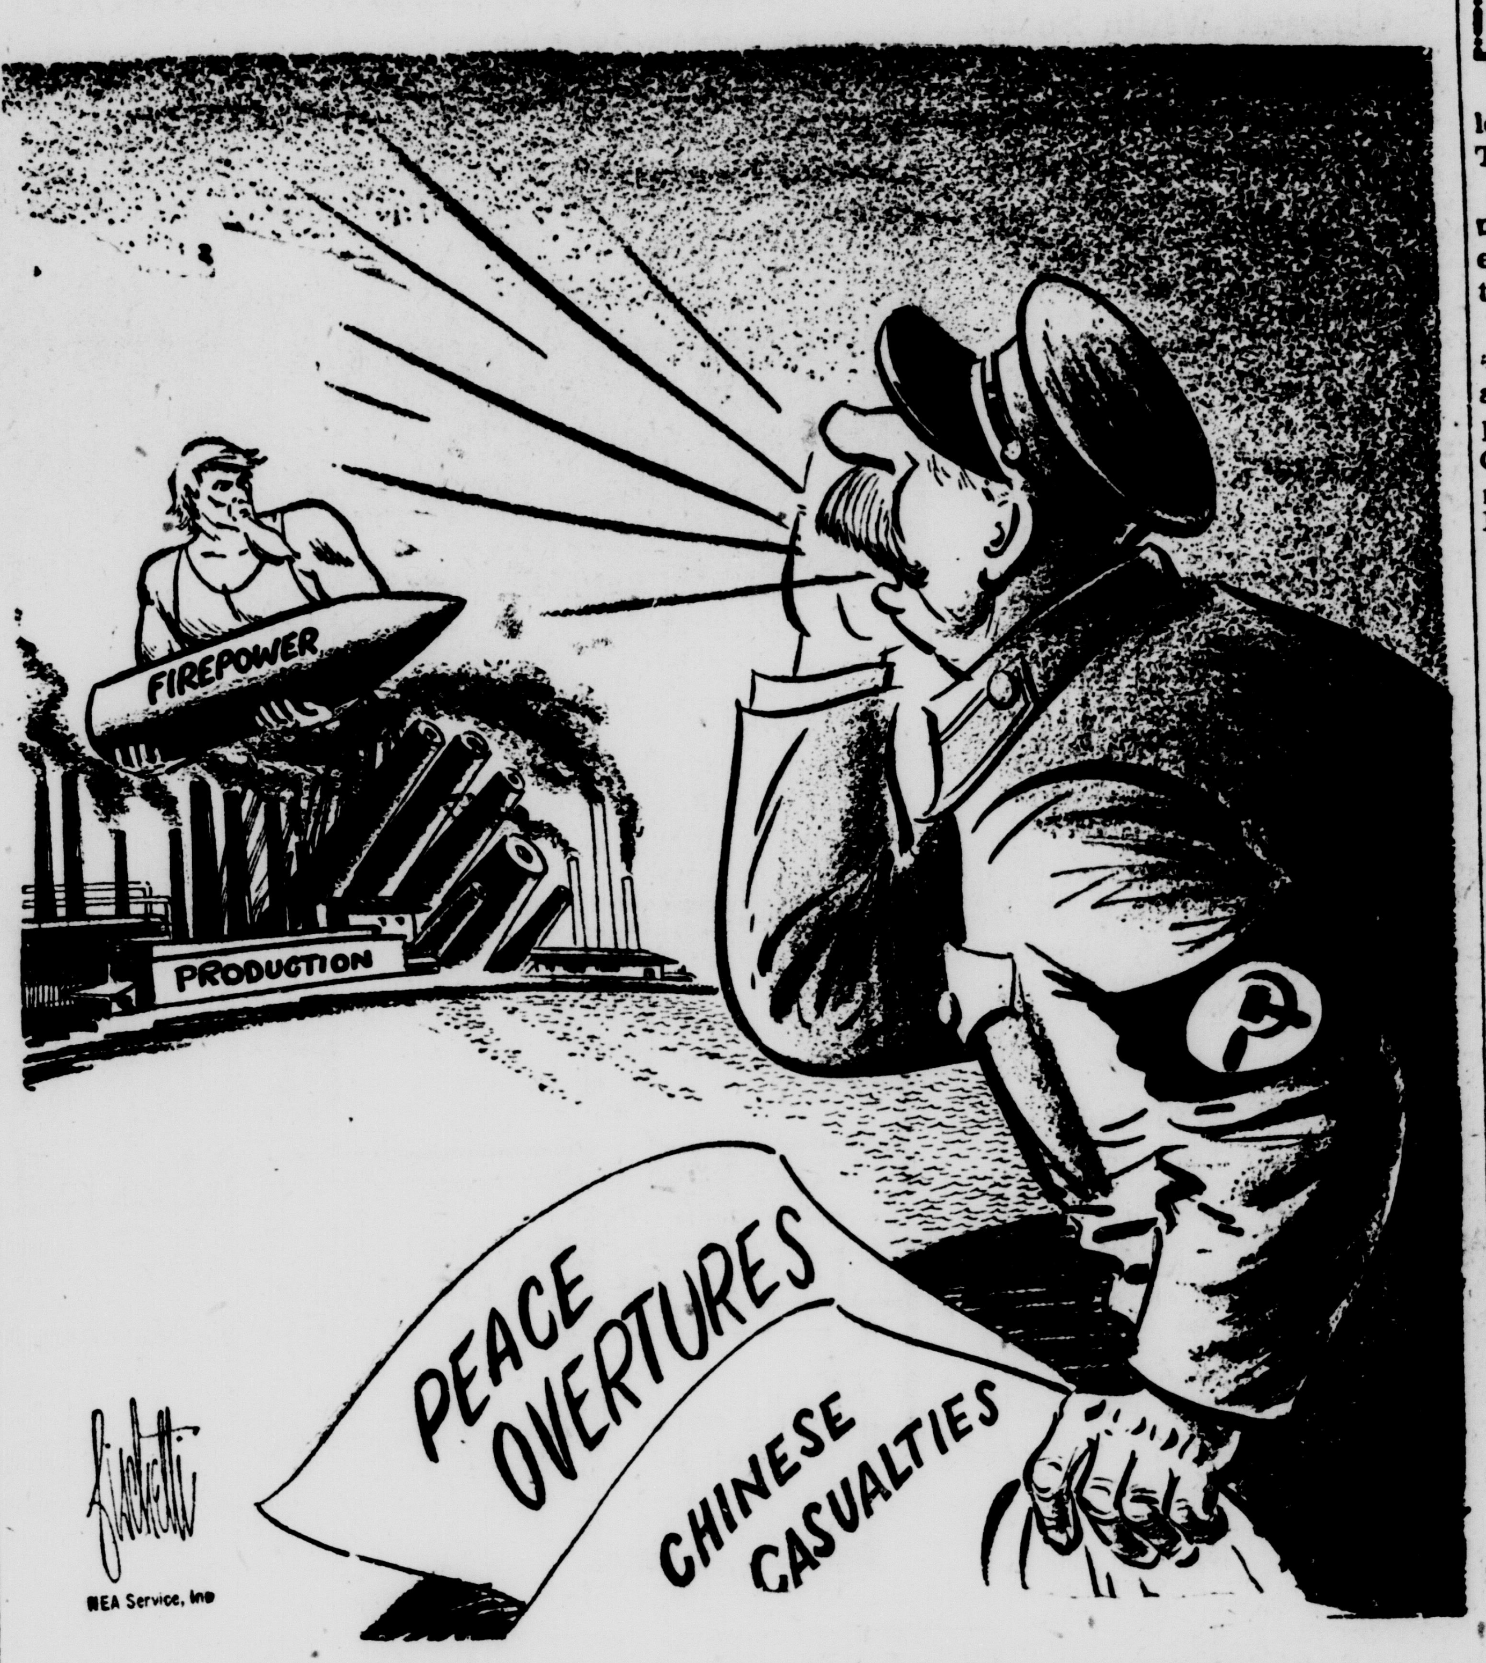
Uncle?



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Senators are finding it novel and refreshing to have a newspaperman as a colleague. However, the new senator, Blair Moody of Michigan doesn't always follow the "club" rules, and some senators don't like it.

For instance, it's against the unwritten Senate code for one senator to expose another in a bald-faced lie. Yet that's what happened when Senator Homer Capehart, Indiana Republican, tried to vote with the meatpackers in secret, and pretend he was on the side of the housewives in public.

Under the "club rules," Capeharts' colleagues would have excused this deception as politics and let him get away with it. However, Michigan's Moody was still too much of a newspaperman.

What happened is that Capehart voted behind closed doors to kill all price controls. Yet posing as the housewives' friend, he delivered a political speech on the Senate floor blaming President Truman for not freezing prices sooner.

"A situation has developed through an almost unpardonable sin on the part of the administration, because the administration did not freeze prices as of September 8 last year," proclaimed the Hoosier senator.

However, Moody had sat in the Banking and Currency Committee when Capehart battled secretly against price controls. So he stood up and challenged:

"I should like to ask the senator from Indiana whether he feels now that it is advisable or feasible to remove all price and wage controls."

"I have never advocated it," blurted Capehart.

"Then why did the senator from Indiana vote to do so in committee a few days ago?" Moody shot back.

On the Spot

"That is not correct," Capehart denied angrily.

"The senator from Illinois, Mr. Dirksen, made the motion to strike Title IV (Price and Wage Controls) from the bill. The record shows that four votes were cast in favor of the motion. The senator from Indiana and three other senators voted in favor of the motion," reported the ex-newsman.

"Let us say for the sake of the argument that I did vote as the senator says," sputtered Capehart.

"Let us say the senator did, period," snapped Moody.

Then, in keeping with his newspaper training to double-check the facts, the Michigan senator phoned the committee clerk, and a minute later reported back to the Senate: "I have just consulted the clerk, and he says the vote was 8 to 4, and I remember very clearly that the senator from Indiana did vote for that motion . . . the senator from Indiana held up his hand, and I think that was an indication of a vote."

"The senator from Michigan says that I held up my hand. I do not know why the senator brings up that matter on the floor, and whether it is necessary to have persons snooping to see whether a senator holds up his hand," fumed Capehart. "I wish to say that I do not like such tactics, and I do not think the senator should make such statements. I think it is out of order for him to do so."

"I do not believe it is out of order," retorted Moody. "Why should a senator's position on a matter of this importance be secret?"

Diplomatic Pipeline

Behind The Peace Talks—Reason Jacob Malik was so "sick" after his truce proposal that he could not see U.N. diplomats was because he hadn't received instructions from Moscow on what to do next. Moscow had okayed his peace feeler but hadn't told him what the next move should be. So Malik was "very sick." (He would have been sicker if he'd made the wrong move) . . . Reason for President Truman's coolness toward the Malik proposal was a secret report he'd received that Communist China is training 1,000,000 for a new Korean drive. The report told of conferences between Mao Tse-tung and the Russians at Mukden at which Mao argued that his troops were too lightly equipped, demanded heavy equipment, more planes and better training. As a result it was agreed to send 2,000 Russian planes to China . . . The leak to Malik of the U.N. truce talks has now been traced to the Egyptian foreign office in Cairo. This was how Malik was able to scoop the U. S. A. and the U.N. with his truce proposal. U. S. diplomats had been talking with U.N. diplomats for ten days about a truce plea to be made June 25, and word of the talks leaked to the Russians through Cairo.

Marshall's New Pup

Norwegian school children who want to thank the United States for Marshall Plan aid, have been saving up their pennies to buy a gift for the author of the Marshall Plan. After some debate, they finally decided to send him a Norwegian Elkhound pup.

At first they weren't quite sure whether the secretary of defense wanted a dog, but after the Norwegian Embassy conferred with him and after he conferred with Mrs. Marshall, the answer came back in the affirmative.

So now 19-year-old Arnt Natland of Bergen will arrive in Washington July 10 to make the presentation. Natland won an essay contest—part of the money-raising plan—on the subject of "Why does Norway participate in economic and military cooperation?" The grand prize is a trip to Paris, New York and Washington.

This Norwegian gesture of people-to-people friendship is similar to the American Legion's tide of toys which sent several million toys to the children of Europe this year and last.

Note—Secretary Marshall's favorite horse was named "Prepare." He has not yet decided what to name the pup, except that he isn't going to name it "McCarthy."

They Bolted the GOP

Story behind the Republican drive to recommit—or pigeonhole—the tax bill in the House last week is that GOP leaders were all set to propose a national sales tax if they were successful in recommitting the bill.

This would mean saddling a large part of the tax burden on lower-bracket taxpayers—for the benefit of those best able to pay, including big corporations now bulging with an estimated $48,000,000,000 of excess profits from defense contracts.

One reason the Republican strategy failed, and the motion to recommit the tax bill was defeated by a narrow margin, was because 15 GOP congressmen refused to go along with their party leaders. Here are the names of the 15 courageous Republicans who voted against recommitting the tax bill:

Claude Bakewell of Missouri, John Byrnes of Wisconsin, Clifford Case of New Jersey, Glenn Davis of Wisconsin, Hal Holmes of Washington, Clifford Hope of Kansas, Jacob Javits of New York, LeRoy Johnson of California, Thruston Morton of Kentucky, Walter Norblad of Oregon, Winston Prouty of Vermont, John Saylor of Pennsylvania, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Lowell Stockman of Oregon and Thor Tollefson of Washington.

Q—Why is it sometimes said that the membership of the Senate is continuing?

A—Each Senator serves six years, but only one-third of the Senate stands for election every two years with each new Congress. Since the remaining two-thirds are members whose terms have not expired, the Senate has a continuing membership.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 30, 1951

THE PRESIDENT OF ECUADOR

Ecuador is not a very big country. But the little South American nation has a big president, both in size and ability. When he was elected in 1947 after there had been five presidents in 11 months, Galo Plaza-Lasso established a democratic regime that has lasted ever since.

President Plaza, who was born in Brooklyn when his father was Minister to the U. S., is back in this country for a state visit. A graying, six-feet-two man who once sold apples on Wall Street, he is trying to modernize Ecuador the way he modernized his family's rundown estate. He wiped out political revolution in his country, but he is going all out for agricultural and industrial revolution.

In a speech in Washington the other day, he echoed some North American ideals: We must be alert, he said, to defend freedom "through the printed word, in the classroom, in the workshop and the public square; and, if need be, if all else fails . . . then on the battlefield."

Like most other visitors of state, President Plaza would like to arrange a little help for his country from the U. S. That's to be expected, perhaps.

But he more than deserves the welcome mat the U. S. has rolled out in his honor. After the disheartening blows being struck against free speech and free press in the Argentine, President Plaza's views on the subject, coming from a South American, make encouraging reading.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

This year the nation's electric power industry will be celebrating the achievement of bringing electricity to 95 per cent of the farmers of America, and we pause for a moment of nostalgia for candlelight and the oil lamp.

"The disparity between rural living conditions and urban living conditions is fast disappearing," says Allan B. Kline, head of the Farm Bureau Federation, in commenting on rural electrification.

But something else will be disappearing, too. For the dwellers in cities and towns, the "disparity" Kline talks about was something to sort of look forward to when we visited Grandma on the farm, or took off for a summer at the cottage by the lake.

In the evening, the warm and sometimes flickering glow of the kerosene lamps gave off a pungence of its own, as much a part of the country flavor as a field of timothy baking in the sun. At bedtime, the candle that lighted your way upstairs (and sometimes also lighted an extra hour's forbidden reading) helped remind you of the day's soft shadows and cool fragrance in the piney woods.

Well, the oil lamps seem to be going out in rural America now. Life in the country will be brighter, and electricity will make the chores easier. But we can't help noticing that the catalogs still show old-fashioned hurricane lamps, and oil lamps with curving, graceful chimneys. Most of them have wires and bulbs nowadays, but if you lean back and try real hard, maybe you can catch a faint whiff of kerosene.

THE ARTS IN RUSSIA

Pravda, official Communist Party newspaper, asked that a Stalin prize for work in opera, which was awarded to Russian composer Herman Zhukovsky, be canceled. The opera for which the prize was awarded is now called unrepresentative of the life on a collective farm which it depicted.

Official censorship of the arts is hard for Americans to understand. We are used to reading works by authors who criticize the government freely and who satirize governmental officials, sometimes without mercy. Some of our Pulitzer prize winners have been violent in their expressed unhappiness with the social, economic and cultural situation in this country.

Perhaps the Russian attitude is an indication that their leaders are aware of their own weakness and are frightened even by soft-spoken criticism.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

McCARTHY'S 60,000 WORDS

Senator Joe McCarthy put together a study of General George Marshall from the record made by his friends. The immediate newspaper reports were based not upon the senator's 60,000-word speech but on a supposition of what he might have said. In current journalism, this is called "highlighting," and is generally inaccurate and distorted.

So I waited until I could get a full copy of the speech; read the whole of the 60,000 words and realized that the senator had done a decent job of research and analysis. To make the matter clear, this is a partial bibliography that Senator McCarthy used in connection with this speech:

Winston Churchill, "The Hinge of Fate"; Admiral William Leahy, "I Was There"; Cordell Hull, "Memoirs of Cordell Hull, Vol. II"; Henry L. Stimson, "On Active Service"; James F. Byrnes, "Speaking Frankly"; Sumner Welles, "Seven Decisions that Shaped History"; Edward Stettinius, Jr., "Roosevelt and the Russians"; Robert Sherwood, "Roosevelt and Hopkins"; Hanson Baldwin, "Great Mistakes of the War"; General H. H. Arnold, "Global Mission"; General Claire Chennault, "Way of a Fighter"; General Lucius Clay, "Decision in Germany"; General Mark Clark, "Calculated Risk"; General John R. Deane, "Strange Alliance"; General Omar Bradley, "The War America Fought," "Life Magazine," April 30, 1951; Edgar Ansel Mowrer, "The Nightmare of American Foreign Policy"; Jonathan Daniels, "The Man of Independence"; Freda Utley, "The China Story"; Henry Wallace, "Soviet Asia Mission"; Robert Payne, "Mao Tse-tung—Ruler of Red China."

This bibliography is important because it shows not a single enemy—personal or political—of General Marshall, unless it be Winston Churchill with whom Marshall did not see eye-to-eye during phases of the war.

I do not propose here to indicate my own judgment of this speech; I shall do that at another time. The point of this piece is to suggest that the speech ought to be read; ought to be taken seriously; and should be discussed.

It is apparent throughout that Senator McCarthy, while not approving of General Marshall, devotes most of his long speech not to his own views but to quotations from others. He says:

". . . There are various ways in which to arrive at an estimate of a wartime figure. It is helpful if he will write his own recollections, but that General Marshall has declined to do, giving, as I understand it, the explanation that to do so would injure certain reputations. If all public figures accepted that thesis, I may remark in passing, the public would be even less enlightened than it is at present. In pursuit of an estimate, one may also gain information from official records. The records of the the joint chiefs of staff and the Anglo-American combined chiefs of staff are not open to my perusal. In the end the inquirer will also find in the archives of the enemy, when they become available, evidence regarding the behavior of his own leaders. If the archives of the Kremlin are ever open to us we shall have even deeper insight than we have today concerning the conduct of our current leaders. But as matters now stand, I have been forced to rely upon the memoirs and upon some other contemporary sources. I repeat that all these are friendly sources, and cannot be charged with attempts to injure General Marshall."

From that point on, McCarthy devotes himself to showing how General Marshall placed himself in posture to run the American participation in World War II, largely by quarrelling with Winston Churchill over where the second front was to be and how it was to be managed. It was Churchill versus Stalin, with Marshall on Stalin's side. Out of this particular decision, which Marshall finally won, Stalin gained mastery of eastern Europe.

McCarthy then goes on to discuss Yalta, raising the issue for the 1952 campaign:

"It was Marshall who stood at Roosevelt's elbow at Yalta, urging the grim necessity of bribing Stalin to get into the war. It was Marshall who submitted intelligence reports to support his argument, suppressing some truthful estimates, according to Welles, in Hanson Baldwin's book on page 81, and keeping from the stricken Roosevelt knowledge that the Japanese were even then feeling for peace in acknowledgment of defeat."

It is interesting that some writers insist upon calling all this hindsight. They forget that men like Herbert Hoover, Hugh Gibson, Arthur Bliss Lane, William C. Bullitt, Joseph P. Kennedy and many others, including, if I may be so immodest, myself, had lots to say on this subject from 1938 until today. As one lists such names, it would be most unjust not to include Charles Lindbergh, who was pilloried and destroyed as a public figure because he recognized early the truth of Russian imperialism.

APPLYING CORTISONE DIRECTLY

Ever since Drs. Banting and Best discovered insulin, research workers have been finding conditions besides diabetes in which insulin is of great value. And now it would seem that since the discovery of cortisone and ACTH as a specific treatment for arthritis, research workers are finding other uses for these miracle drugs with beneficial results in treating rheumatic fever, alcoholism, hay fever, gout and those chronic skin ailments, eczema and psoriasis. We are, therefore, not surprised to learn of other ailments helped by cortisone.

In Southern Medical Journal, Drs. Tom Spies and R. E. Stone report their results in the treatment of various skin, eye, and other conditions by the local application of cortisone. These physicians treated two patients with rheumatoid arthritis (the commonest form of rheumatism) associated with two forms of eye inflammation (iritis and uveitis), two patients with arthritis and allergic skin disease and two patients with chronic psoriasis (white patches covered with abundant silvery scales which bleed underneath when removed) by local application of cortisone acetate.

All six cases had been treated with three antihistamine substances all of which had failed to give relief. The eyes of the patient with eye disease (iritis and uveitis) appeared normal by the sixth day of local application of an opthalmic ointment, containing 25 mg. of cortisone acetate per grain. The skin inflammation due to allergy subsided completely after 13 days of daily applications of cortisone acetate ointment.

The patients with psoriasis—a most difficult skin disease to cure—were given three courses of cortisone acetate by injections into the muscles of doses of 1,200 mg., 300 mg., and 375 mg., respectively. From the time the cortisone treatment was started to the end of the third period of injections (nine weeks), the disfiguring patches had disappeared from 70 to 95 per cent. The most pronounced clearing was in the scalp and the surfaces of the elbows. To one of the patches which measured about ¾ inch by 1¼ inches located below the knee, 5 mg. of cortisone acetate per grain was applied twice daily. After 24 days of treatment this patch showed as much healing as had followed cortisone injections, whereas the untreated patches were unchanged or became worse. Results obtained in these patients show that cortisone acts as a sort of ferment changing the character of the cells or tissues. Cortisone is truly a miracle drug.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Senators are finding it novel and refreshing to have a newspaperman as a colleague. However, the new senator, Blair Moody of Michigan doesn't always follow the "club" rules, and some senators don't like it.

For instance, it's against the unwritten Senate code for one senator to expose another in a bald-faced lie. Yet that's what happened when Senator Homer Capehart, Indiana Republican, tried to vote with the meatpackers in secret, and pretend he was on the side of the housewives in public.

Under the "club rules," Capeharts' colleagues would have excused this deception as politics and let him get away with it. However, Michigan's Moody was still too much of a newspaperman.

What happened is that Capehart voted behind closed doors to kill all price controls. Yet posing as the housewives' friend, he delivered a political speech on the Senate floor blaming President Truman for not freezing prices sooner.

"A situation has developed through an almost unpardonable sin on the part of the administration, because the administration did not freeze prices as of September 8 last year," proclaimed the Hoosier senator.

However, Moody had sat in the Banking and Currency Committee when Capehart battled secretly against price controls. So he stood up and challenged:

"I should like to ask the senator from Indiana whether he feels now that it is advisable or feasible to remove all price and wage controls."

"I have never advocated it," blurted Capehart.

"Then why did the senator from Indiana vote to do so in committee a few days ago?" Moody shot back.

On the Spot

"That is not correct," Capehart denied angrily.

"The senator from Illinois, Mr. Dirksen, made the motion to strike Title IV (Price and Wage Controls) from the bill. The record shows that four votes were cast in favor of the motion. The senator from Indiana and three other senators voted in favor of the motion," reported the ex-newsman.

"Let us say for the sake of the argument that I did vote as the senator says," sputtered Capehart.

"Let us say the senator did, period," snapped Moody.

Then, in keeping with his newspaper training to double-check the facts, the Michigan senator phoned the committee clerk, and a minute later reported back to the Senate: "I have just consulted the clerk, and he says the vote was 8 to 4, and I remember very clearly that the senator from Indiana did vote for that motion . . . the senator from Indiana held up his hand, and I think that was an indication of a vote."

"The senator from Michigan says that I held up my hand. I do not know why the senator brings up that matter on the floor, and whether it is necessary to have persons snooping to see whether a senator holds up his hand," fumed Capehart. "I wish to say that I do not like such tactics, and I do not think the senator should make such statements. I think it is out of order for him to do so."

"I do not believe it is out of order," retorted Moody. "Why should a senator's position on a matter of this importance be secret?"

Diplomatic Pipeline

Behind The Peace Talks—Reason Jacob Malik was so "sick" after his truce proposal that he could not see U.N. diplomats was because he hadn't received instructions from Moscow on what to do next. Moscow had okayed his peace feeler but hadn't told him what the next move should be. So Malik was "very sick." (He would have been sicker if he'd made the wrong move) . . . Reason for President Truman's coolness toward the Malik proposal was a secret report he'd received that Communist China is training 1,000,000 for a new Korean drive. The report told of conferences between Mao Tse-tung and the Russians at Mukden at which Mao argued that his troops were too lightly equipped, demanded heavy equipment, more planes and better training. As a result it was agreed to send 2,000 Russian planes to China . . . The leak to Malik of the U.N. truce talks has now been traced to the Egyptian foreign office in Cairo. This was how Malik was able to scoop the U. S. A. and the U.N. with his truce proposal. U. S. diplomats had been talking with U.N. diplomats for ten days about a truce plea to be made June 25, and word of the talks leaked to the Russians through Cairo.

Marshall's New Pup

Norwegian school children who want to thank the United States for Marshall Plan aid, have been saving up their pennies to buy a gift for the author of the Marshall Plan. After some debate, they finally decided to send him a Norwegian Elkhound pup.

At first they weren't quite sure whether the secretary of defense wanted a dog, but after the Norwegian Embassy conferred with him and after he conferred with Mrs. Marshall, the answer came back in the affirmative.

So now 19-year-old Arnt Natland of Bergen will arrive in Washington July 10 to make the presentation. Natland won an essay contest—part of the money-raising plan—on the subject of "Why does Norway participate in economic and military cooperation?" The grand prize is a trip to Paris, New York and Washington.

This Norwegian gesture of people-to-people friendship is similar to the American Legion's tide of toys which sent several million toys to the children of Europe this year and last.

Note—Secretary Marshall's favorite horse was named "Prepare." He has not yet decided what to name the pup, except that he isn't going to name it "McCarthy."

They Bolted the GOP

Story behind the Republican drive to recommit—or pigeonhole—the tax bill in the House last week is that GOP leaders were all set to propose a national sales tax if they were successful in recommitting the bill.

This would mean saddling a large part of the tax burden on lower-bracket taxpayers—for the benefit of those best able to pay, including big corporations now bulging with an estimated $48,000,000,000 of excess profits from defense contracts.

One reason the Republican strategy failed, and the motion to recommit the tax bill was defeated by a narrow margin, was because 15 GOP congressmen refused to go along with their party leaders. Here are the names of the 15 courageous Republicans who voted against recommitting the tax bill:

Claude Bakewell of Missouri, John Byrnes of Wisconsin, Clifford Case of New Jersey, Glenn Davis of Wisconsin, Hal Holmes of Washington, Clifford Hope of Kansas, Jacob Javits of New York, LeRoy Johnson of California, Thruston Morton of Kentucky, Walter Norblad of Oregon, Winston Prouty of Vermont, John Saylor of Pennsylvania, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Lowell Stockman of Oregon and Thor Tollefson of Washington.

Good Taste Today

MOURNING IN BUSINESS

A man writes: "My daughter suggests a black mourning band on my business suits, which are about all I ever wear, as the best expedient today for showing respect to her mother who has just passed away. I feel this would be very conspicuous in the office. Will you comment?"

While entirely correct and above criticism, I have to agree with you that it would be conspicuous in a business office, and if you come into contact with customers it would be wiser not to wear the band. You should of course avoid wearing colored neck ties, shirts, handkerchieps or socks.

Twin Flower Girls

Dear Mrs. Post: Would two little flower girls be one too many? They are twins and it would be difficult to choose one and not the other.

Answer: Of course have the two! Twins would be very sweet.

Name Problem of Widow-Divorcee

Dear Mrs. Post: I was a widow and then married but found it necessary very soon afterward to divorce my husband. The court has restored my former married name. Should I again be called Mrs. John Former or Mrs. May Former?

Answer: To re-establish yourself as Mrs. John Former will be proper.

Top Ranking Officers

Dear Mrs. Post: Who takes precedence at an official dinner: A general or an admiral?

Answer: Since their rank is equal, precedence is best determined by their seniority—meaning the length of time each has held his present rank.

Thanks for Money

Dear Mrs. Post: When writing thank-you notes for money gifts, should the amounts be stated in the notes? I am mentioning the clock or the tray or whatever each other wedding present is, but don't know how to include checks and actual sums of money.

Answer: The wording of your thank-you would be for a generous check or gift.

Opening lead—♠ 6

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Few players take enough advantage of the opening bid of one no-trump. If your partner makes this opening bid you can double an opponent's overcall with a very meager strength and a very light trump holding.

In today's hand, for example, South should double the overcall of two spades. He knows that North has nearly half the strength in the deck, and his own high cards are more than enough to make it a cinch that the opponents are out-held in high cards.

True, South is not happy as a lark to double with three tiny trumps. However, he expects his partner to have three spades for the no-trump bid. Hence the combined North-South hands should contain six trumps and by far more high cards than the East-West hands. How can East expect to win eight tricks against such a combination?

When the hand was actually played, South missed his chance to double. However, North came to the rescue by doubling when two spades was passed around. At this point South should have passed the double with glee and gratitude — to say nothing of greed. East would have gone for 300 points without the slightest doubt.

Actually South decided to run out of a good spot into a bad one. His contract of three hearts went down automatically and ingloriously. He was bound to lose a spade, a trump, a diamond, and two clubs even if he stood on his head (although that was one thing he didn't actually try).

Part of the value of a strong opening bid of one no-trump is that it silences the opposition. This value is lost if you let the enemy get away with an interference bid that should be punished.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

MOURNING IN BUSINESS

A man writes: "My daughter suggests a black mourning band on my business suits, which are about all I ever wear, as the best expedient today for showing respect to her mother who has just passed away. I feel this would be very conspicuous in the office. Will you comment?"

While entirely correct and above criticism, I have to agree with you that it would be conspicuous in a business office, and if you come into contact with customers it would be wiser not to wear the band. You should of course avoid wearing colored neck ties, shirts, handkerchieps or socks.

Twin Flower Girls

Dear Mrs. Post: Would two little flower girls be one too many? They are twins and it would be difficult to choose one and not the other.

Answer: Of course have the two! Twins would be very sweet.

Name Problem of Widow-Divorcee

Dear Mrs. Post: I was a widow and then married but found it necessary very soon afterward to divorce my husband. The court has restored my former married name. Should I again be called Mrs. John Former or Mrs. May Former?

Answer: To re-establish yourself as Mrs. John Former will be proper.

Top Ranking Officers

Dear Mrs. Post: Who takes precedence at an official dinner: A general or an admiral?

Answer: Since their rank is equal, precedence is best determined by their seniority—meaning the length of time each has held his present rank.

Thanks for Money

Dear Mrs. Post: When writing thank-you notes for money gifts, should the amounts be stated in the notes? I am mentioning the clock or the tray or whatever each other wedding present is, but don't know how to include checks and actual sums of money.

Answer: The wording of your thank-you would be for a generous check or gift.

Opening lead—♠ 6

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Few players take enough advantage of the opening bid of one no-trump. If your partner makes this opening bid you can double an opponent's overcall with a very meager strength and a very light trump holding.

In today's hand, for example, South should double the overcall of two spades. He knows that North has nearly half the strength in the deck, and his own high cards are more than enough to make it a cinch that the opponents are out-held in high cards.

True, South is not happy as a lark to double with three tiny trumps. However, he expects his partner to have three spades for the no-trump bid. Hence the combined North-South hands should contain six trumps and by far more high cards than the East-West hands. How can East expect to win eight tricks against such a combination?

When the hand was actually played, South missed his chance to double. However, North came to the rescue by doubling when two spades was passed around. At this point South should have passed the double with glee and gratitude — to say nothing of greed. East would have gone for 300 points without the slightest doubt.

Actually South decided to run out of a good spot into a bad one. His contract of three hearts went down automatically and ingloriously. He was bound to lose a spade, a trump, a diamond, and two clubs even if he stood on his head (although that was one thing he didn't actually try).

Part of the value of a strong opening bid of one no-trump is that it silences the opposition. This value is lost if you let the enemy get away with an interference bid that should be punished.

Three Kingston Girls Attend Summer Teen Conference for 'YW'

Three Kingston teen-agers, the Misses Shirley A. Cline of 3 Coffey place, Elizabeth Lawrence of 18 Sterling street, and Ellen Roach of 38 Hoffman street are attending the second annual Y-teen summer conference at the University of Bridgeport, Conn. At the week-long conference, which ends tomorrow, they are representing the local YWCA group.

Teen-agers were selected from the local group on the basis of active participation, and are being sponsored by the organization's teen-age group. At the conference they are participating in round table discussions, lectures, comparisons of club activities, and sociability. Conference theme this year is Focus for the Future. Each day delegates have chosen one particular "focus," as on the world, themselves, or faith.

Attending the conference are more than 225 delegates from Connecticut, New York, and New Jersey. While there they are living in the university's residence halls, eating at the former home of the late circus impresario, P. T. Barnum, bathing in Long Island Sound, and conducting sports events at Seaside Park.

Sutton, Kelly . . .

one can send our nation down the road to disaster and oblivion.

During the past few weeks the halls of Congress have echoed with the words of "the great debate"—a debate brought on by the shameful, sneaky manner in which one of the greatest military geniuses the world has ever known was rudely pushed out of his command without the slightest advance notice. There is no question as to the right of the President to dismiss a subordinate, but there most certainly is a question as to the manner in which the President acted in his typical short-tempered way.

Cites MacArthur Dismissal

The curt dismissal of General MacArthur has brought about a great outpouring of words on both sides of the controversy — and therein, in my opinion, lies one good result of this unfortunate occurrence. Here we have true democracy in action, with everyone given an opportunity to air his views on the MacArthur incident and, more important, on the broader issue of our entire foreign policy. Can you imagine this sort of thing happening in Russia or any of its satellite nations? Here in America, our freedom may be shrinking and threatened by the actions of an all powerful government which seeks to control our lives, but the "great debate" has shown that we still enjoy our freedom of speech and can speak our piece openly on grave issues which vitally affect our nation and its very existence.

Likewise, let me point out to you that in meeting here today, you are exercising a privilege granted only in a democracy. You too are carrying out the processes of government which the founding fathers of our nation intended when they drafted our constitution. Every one of you should be proud and thankful to have a part in helping to strengthen and perpetuate the greatest system of government ever devised by man.

Party Born 97 Years Ago

You know, it was almost 97 years ago today that our great Republican party was born. It was born out of a growing anti-slavery feeling and a quest for liberty.

The initial roots of the Republican party were planted in 1854 in several states where thinking men believed that a new party was necessary if the union was to be preserved. And within the short span of six years, the new Republican party had so captured the imagination and support of the ablest among the younger minds of the North and the West, that the party gained control of both Houses of Congress and elected Abraham Lincoln to the White House.

That was nearly a century ago that the people of our great nation, yearning for individual freedom and faced with grave internal dissention, turned to a new political party whose name was derived from the Latin, "res," meaning a thing, and "publicus," belonging to the people. Today, as our country faces no less a crisis, there is a burning need for a return to the principles of republicanism.

We need a return to honesty and integrity in government, such as the fortunate citizens of New York have enjoyed in our state in the last eight years, where the Republican party has made good on every campaign pledge.

We need a return to competence in government — something that has been lacking in Washington for years in sharp contrast to Albany where Governor Dewey has surrounded himself with the ablest possible men in key administrative positions.

Common Sense Needed

We need a return to government by common sense, not by theory. We want the leaders of our government to be hard-headed, practical men of action like those we have in Albany, instead of the starry-eyed visionaries who have infested Washington with their crack-pot schemes since the earliest days of the nefarious New Deal.

We need a return to sound finance and good business in government. We want our federal administration to take a leaf from our state government's book, to start running our nation's affairs on a pay-as-you-go basis and to throw all those crazy deficit financing plans into the waste basket.

We need a return to government of the people, by the people and for the people. We want no part of socialized medicine, the Brannan Plan and other phoney plans constantly being concocted in Washington. After all, if our state government can continue to provide all its essential services to the people without regimenting their lives, why can't Washington do the same?

Your state government never had to throw Communists out because it never let them in. The Washington administration is honey-combed with radicals and subversives, who are exerting their sinister influence over our domestic and foreign policies.

Just picture the situation we have in the nation today. Our domestic economy is in shreds. Price control — at least, that's what they call it—is a farce. Confusion is greater than in the zaniest days of the O.P.A. still Truman & Company go blithely on with politics as usual. The patronage-packed payrolls of the Office of Price Stabilization expand daily as the only qualification for employment in this bureaucratic bug-house is political loyalty to the Missouri haberdasher.

Our international situation is no better. No one knows from one day to the next what our foreign policy is. The top brass in our diplomatic and military circles constantly offer conflicting opinions and contradict one another. When honest statesmen constructively criticize and seek a clear picture of the situation for the people, the President and his hatchet-men accuse anyone who disagrees with them of "playing politics."

As we watch the fantastic performance in Washington, it is little wonder that the American people ask what is happening behind the scenes. Who is urging and telling our government what to do? Is it England? Or some other power?

Shocked at Testimony

I was shocked to read General Wedemeyer's testimony the other day when he told the Senate committee investigating the MacArthur dismissal that he was all set to become Ambassador to China—even to the extent of investing heavily in what he called a diplomatic "trousseau"—when his appointment was suddenly canceled because the Chinese Communists objected to his selection.

We have a government that loudly preaches the dangers of communism and then lets the Communists dictate the choice of one of our ambassadors? How can the people have confidence in an administration which blows hot one day and cold the next?

The plain truth is that there has been a wholesale lowering of moral standards in our national government over the past 18 years. The emphasis has been not on how much good can be done for the nation, but rather, on how much the party in power can take from the people.

As General MacArthur so eloquently stated, too many administration leaders in Washington, "have become absorbed in the demands of political expediency, are not unwilling to compromise moral principle and have lost the traditional American patriot's touch."

Such a continuing process of disintegration can result only in a lessening of the people's confidence in their government. No greater calamity could ever occur than to have Americans lose faith in their system of government—a system founded on faith in their fellow men and strengthened and perfected over the last 175 years by patriotic Americans who never lost that faith.

'You Are Showing Way'

You delegates today are demonstrating that every individual has a part in shaping his own destiny and choosing his own officials. Government, like a chain, is only as strong as its weakest link. A strong national government depends on a strong local government and we are meeting here today to help make democracy work.

As we prepare to transact the business of this convention, let me emphasize to you that the candidates who are nominated for office are of your choosing. You represent the thinking of the people in your district. Your job and your responsibility is to nominate candidates. Then it is the job of the organization to go out and make sure that they are elected by an overwhelming vote.

I want to stress to you, too, that party responsibility transcends personalities. When the people go to the polls to elect, even though they may not personally know the individual for whom they are voting, they do know the party organization and what it stands for. And in this county of ours, they know what the Republican party stands for—good government administered with honesty and integrity to serve the interests of all the people.

Finally, I want to bring home to you the importance of electing Republicans, even in the smallest of local offices. You know the chaos our nation is in today is the result of the inept and bungling conduct of national affairs by an incompetent Democratic administration. But what a good many people fail to realize is that every time they elect a Democrat to the most insignificant local office, they are helping to build up that vicious federal bureaucracy which has extended its power into every corner of our country.

Fellow delegates, I am sure every one of you is keenly aware of his responsibilities today. As we meet to carry out our duties as citizens, let us thank Almighty God that we still live in the land of the free and the home of the brave. Let us face our responsibilities squarely and exercise our judgment fairly. Let us look ahead to the future with confidence, serene in the knowledge that with the guidance of Divine Providence, this nation shall continue to prosper and peace and security shall come to this land of ours.

The speech of City GOP Leader Connelly nominating Harry D. Sutton, for county clerk at the convention follows:

"Three years ago I stood upon this platform and indulged in prophecy which time has seen fulfilled. I said that the man we nominate for the very important office of county clerk must be energetic, skilled in business, conscientious in detail and above all a man who is always courteous and patient in dealing with the public and promised that Harry D. Sutton was a man whose qualifications would meet this test of office.

"We proceeded to nominate him and in November, 1948, the people of our county elected him county clerk by a majority of over 12,000 votes. The over-overwhelming confidence of the people of our county in Harry Sutton and in the Republican party has been fully justified by the manner in which he has conducted office He is always on the job and has done a good job.

"The county clerk is one of the busiest of our public officials. He is charged with the duty of the proper recording of all deeds and mortgages affecting real property in the county. Last year approximately 6,000 deeds and 3,000 mortgages were recorded in the county clerk's office. Prior to about four years ago all deeds and mortgages were re-typed and compared word for word. Now, however, due to the modern photostating machine purchased by the county, they are photostated immediately upon recording for insertion in the books of record of the county clerk. This procedure not only saves time and is more efficient but also means that recorded instruments are quickly returned to their owners.

"Many other types of instruments affecting real property, personal property, liens, corporations partnerships are recorded in the county clerk's office. In addition, all records of cases in the county and Supreme Court in Ulster county, both civil and criminal, are filed in that office and carefully indexed by the staff of the county clerk. By virtue of his office, he must be present at all sessions of those courts and keep a record of what transpired. The county clerk is charged with the issuance of many licenses, including hunting and fishing and a separate bureau of his office handles automobile licenses and operator's permits. Aliens who desire their first citizenship papers come to the county clerk. Persons seeking passports may also apply to the county clerk.

"Harry Sutton has had three years of experience in this work that will enable him to do an even better and smoother job in the next three years.

"I would like to divert for a moment and point out that there is one handicap under which the county clerk suffers—that is lack of adequate space. We sorely need the contemplated new county office building. I know that many worthwhile and necessary projects in government must be deferred because of the cost. It is my hope, however, that sometime in the future, ways and means can be found so that our county clerks can do an even better job and so that too the convenience of the public using that office will be increased.

"In conclusion, allow me to repeat what I said three years ago: "So, with full knowledge that he will make a capable, efficient, hard-working and courteous public official, I am proud to nominate as the Republican candidate for the office of county clerk, Harry D. Sutton of Clintondale."

The Rev. Frank Lawrence Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, opened the convention, delivering the following invocation:

Almighty and Everlasting God, in whose providence is given the destiny of life itself, we do invoke Thy blessing upon our country in these strategic hours. As the pages of history have unfolded, we have seen the hand of God raising up men of great courage and conviction to lead our country to greater paths of opportunity. May Thou in Thy Divine wisdom give courage and strength to the leaders of this day. Give them power to guide men forward even against their human weaknesses. Man's judgment has always created the problem, and God's judgment has always given the answer. Cause Thy face to shine upon this assembly which is gathered together to elect leaders. May the judgments of this group be in accordance with Thy will. Direct and prosper those elected to be leaders committed to an American way of life, a way of life which stands as a symbol of liberty against the forces of hatred, inhumanity, and Godlessness. May this hour become God's hour because of our faith, courage and devotion. This we ask in Christ's name.

Iran Is Warned

cians employed at the Abadan refineries will be "temporarily withdrawn" if the dispute forces a closing of the refineries.

Mossadegh sent a letter to President Truman earlier this week blaming the British for the deadlock. Neither Mossadegh's letter nor today's British note showed any sign that either was prepared to compromise.

The situation now appears to be that the British technicians, nearly 3,000 strong, will stay in Abadan as long as storage facilities are available to handle the refinery output — anywhere from a week to a month.

This gives a little more time for some last-minute approach. There has been talk here that perhaps President Truman may try to get the two countries to reach at least a temporary settlement.

School No. 1 Closing

June 26, 1951

Editor, The Freeman

Citizens of Wilbur, awake.

They are taking away your school.

Protest.

This is a democracy. The Kingston Board of Education is not practicing democratic principles in its action.

The school was closed without a word to the parents of the district. The children of Wilbur are as good as any other children in the city. Therefore, the parents of this section, ask the Board of Education to explain why this section of the city has been singled out for special treatment and to open our school in the fall of 1951.

Why are our children forced to submit to such treatment?

Very truly yours,
MRS. ALONZO CLEARWATER
mother of one school child.

Red Radio Ignores Offer

Tokyo, June 30 (AP)—Peiping radio tonight ignored Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's offer to meet Red commanders at Wonsan. Instead, the Communist station urged its listeners to intensify their war efforts. Fourteen hours after Ridgways's proposals were broadcast there had been no reaction by either Peiping or Pyongyang radio stations. The news broadcast from Pyongyang, North Korean capital, led off with the usual North Korean war communique and followed with items of 'secondary importance.

New Orleans, June 30 (AP)—Water pools stood in south Louisiana's rich rice fields today after 48-hour of rain ended a drouth to save the $40,000,000 crop. More than three inches of rain fell in some spots. It was really the first good rain in the rice bowl since April 1.

Murder Suspect Is

Mall, famed capital park and boulevard section, and stopped about 8 p. m. Thursday near the 555-foot obelisk honoring George Washington. He wanted to get his fiance out of her Riverdale, Md. home while friends prepared a surprise party. He slipped an engagement ring, bought that day for $125, on her finger.

A few minutes later an apparently near-sighted, dark-complexioned man of medium height, poked a pistol into the car.

Took Wallet, Ring

The man took Gilbert's wallet, removing three dollars, and then stripped the engagement ring from the girl's finger.

Climbing into the back of the car, he ordered Gilbert to drive into Virginia, across the Potomac river from Washington. Gilbert drove to a spot near Falls Church, a 15 minute ride from Washington.

There the gunman made the engaged couple get out of the car, produced adhesive tape, and supervised the girl in binding Gilbert's hands with it.

He took the girl a short distance away and assaulted her, Gilbert said. When he returned with the girl, he freed Gilbert's hands.

Gilbert's car would not start. The three walked about a mile to a gas station, where they bought soft drinks. The gunman had put his pistol in his pocket.

All three then walked out on the highway, where the gunman boarded a Washington-bound bus, with the girl.

As we meet to carry out our duties as citizens, let us thank Almighty God that we still live in the land of the free and the home of the brave. Let us face our responsibilities squarely and exercise our judgment fairly. Let us look ahead to the future with confidence, serene in the knowledge that with the guidance of Divine Providence, this nation shall continue to prosper and peace and security shall come to this land of ours.

The speech of City GOP Leader Connelly nominating Harry D. Sutton, for county clerk at the convention follows:

"Three years ago I stood upon this platform and indulged in prophecy which time has seen fulfilled. I said that the man we nominate for the very important office of county clerk must be energetic, skilled in business, conscientious in detail and above all a man who is always courteous and patient in dealing with the public and promised that Harry D. Sutton was a man whose qualifications would meet this test of office.

"We proceeded to nominate him and in November, 1948, the people of our county elected him county clerk by a majority of over 12,000 votes. The overwhelming confidence of the people of our county in Harry Sutton and in the Republican party has been fully justified by the manner in which he has conducted office He is always on the job and has done a good job.

"The county clerk is one of the busiest of our public officials. He is charged with the duty of the proper recording of all deeds and mortgages affecting real property in the county. Last year approximately 6,000 deeds and 3,000 mortgages were recorded in the county clerk's office. Prior to about four years ago all deeds and mortgages were re-typed and compared word for word. Now, however, due to the modern photostating machine purchased by the county, they are photostated immediately upon recording for insertion in the books of record of the county clerk. This procedure not only saves time and is more efficient but also means that recorded instruments are quickly returned to their owners.

"Many other types of instruments affecting real property, personal property, liens, corporations partnerships are recorded in the county clerk's office. In addition, all records of cases in the county and Supreme Court in Ulster county, both civil and criminal, are filed in that office and carefully indexed by the staff of the county clerk. By virtue of his office, he must be present at all sessions of those courts and keep a record of what transpired. The county clerk is charged with the issuance of many licenses, including hunting and fishing and a separate bureau of his office handles automobile licenses and operator's permits. Aliens who desire their first citizenship papers come to the county clerk. Persons seeking passports may also apply to the county clerk.

"Harry Sutton has had three years of experience in this work that will enable him to do an even better and smoother job in the next three years.

"I would like to divert for a moment and point out that there is one handicap under which the county clerk suffers—that is lack of adequate space. We sorely need the contemplated new county office building. I know that many worthwhile and necessary projects in government must be deferred because of the cost. It is my hope, however, that sometime in the future, ways and means can be found so that our county clerks can do an even better job and so that too the convenience of the public using that office will be increased.

"In conclusion, allow me to repeat what I said three years ago: "So, with full knowledge that he will make a capable, efficient, hard-working and courteous public official, I am proud to nominate as the Republican candidate for the office of county clerk, Harry D. Sutton of Clintondale."

The Rev. Frank Lawrence Gollnick, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, opened the convention, delivering the following invocation:

Almighty and Everlasting God, in whose providence is given the destiny of life itself, we do invoke Thy blessing upon our country in these strategic hours. As the pages of history have unfolded, we have seen the hand of God raising up men of great courage and conviction to lead our country to greater paths of opportunity. May Thou in Thy Divine wisdom give courage and strength to the leaders of this day. Give them power to guide men forward even against their human weaknesses. Man's judgment has always created the problem, and God's judgment has always given the answer. Cause Thy face to shine upon this assembly which is gathered together to elect leaders. May the judgments of this group be in accordance with Thy will. Direct and prosper those elected to be leaders committed to an American way of life, a way of life which stands as a symbol of liberty against the forces of hatred, inhumanity, and Godlessness. May this hour become God's hour because of our faith, courage and devotion. This we ask in Christ's name.

Iran Is Warned

cians employed at the Abadan refineries will be "temporarily withdrawn" if the dispute forces a closing of the refineries.

Mossadegh sent a letter to President Truman earlier this week blaming the British for the deadlock. Neither Mossadegh's letter nor today's British note showed any sign that either was prepared to compromise.

The situation now appears to be that the British technicians, nearly 3,000 strong, will stay in Abadan as long as storage facilities are available to handle the refinery output — anywhere from a week to a month.

This gives a little more time for some last-minute approach. There has been talk here that perhaps President Truman may try to get the two countries to reach at least a temporary settlement.

School No. 1 Closing

June 26, 1951

Editor, The Freeman

Citizens of Wilbur, awake.

They are taking away your school.

Protest.

This is a democracy. The Kingston Board of Education is not practicing democratic principles in its action.

The school was closed without a word to the parents of the district. The children of Wilbur are as good as any other children in the city. Therefore, the parents of this section, ask the Board of Education to explain why this section of the city has been singled out for special treatment and to open our school in the fall of 1951.

Why are our children forced to submit to such treatment?

Very truly yours,
MRS. ALONZO CLEARWATER
mother of one school child.

Red Radio Ignores Offer

Tokyo, June 30 (AP)—Peiping radio tonight ignored Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's offer to meet Red commanders at Wonsan. Instead, the Communist station urged its listeners to intensify their war efforts. Fourteen hours after Ridgways's proposals were broadcast there had been no reaction by either Peiping or Pyongyang radio stations. The news broadcast from Pyongyang, North Korean capital, led off with the usual North Korean war communique and followed with items of secondary importance.

Rain in Rice Bowl

New Orleans, June 30 (AP)—Water pools stood in south Louisiana's rich rice fields today after 48-hour of rain ended a drouth to save the $40,000,000 crop. More than three inches of rain fell in some spots. It was really the first good rain in the rice bowl since April 1.

Murder Suspect Is

Mall, famed capital park and boulevard section, and stopped about 8 p. m. Thursday near the 555-foot obelisk honoring George Washington. He wanted to get his fiance out of her Riverdale, Md. home while friends prepared a surprise party. He slipped an engagement ring, bought that day for $125, on her finger.

A few minutes later an apparently near-sighted, dark-complexioned man of medium height, poked a pistol into the car.

Took Wallet, Ring

The man took Gilbert's wallet, removing three dollars, and then stripped the engagement ring from the girl's finger.

Climbing into the back of the car, he ordered Gilbert to drive into Virginia, across the Potomac river from Washington. Gilbert drove to a spot near Falls Church, a 15 minute ride from Washington.

There the gunman made the engaged couple get out of the car, produced adhesive tape, and supervised the girl in binding Gilbert's hands with it.

He took the girl a short distance away and assaulted her, Gilbert said. When he returned with the girl, he freed Gilbert's hands.

Gilbert's car would not start. The three walked about a mile to a gas station, where they bought soft drinks. The gunman had put his pistol in his pocket.

All three then walked out on the highway, where the gunman boarded a Washington-bound bus, with the girl.

Asks Strike Postponement

New York, June 30 (AP)—Mayor Vincent Impellitteri wants AFL bakers and teamsters to postpone for two weeks a threatened baking industry strike in the New York metropolitan area. Colonials Sign New First Sacker, Outfielder; Play Here Monday

Newcomers to Replace Wojcik and Klinger

Although rain postponed the second and getaway game between the Kingston Colonials and Gloversville Friday night at the municipal stadium, there was plenty of action in the front office of the local Canadian-American League club.

Local officials, meeting with George McDonald, representative of George M. Trautman, president-treasurer of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, came away from the session with heartening news that two new players will be in Kingston next Monday night.

The two newcomers were identified as Jack Bickett, first baseman, who has been a member of the first place Hagerstown club of the Inter-State League.

The other is William O'Brien, also of Hagerstown, who is listed as an outfielder.

Two Are Released

Meanwhile, local moguls reported that Brownie Wojcik, infielder-outfielder-catcher, has been given his release to allow him to continue studies at St. Lawrence University. Also getting the pink slip yesterday was "Red" Klinger, first baseman, who was hitting .211 including games of June 27.

Bickett, who will replace Klinger at first in Kingston's next home game Monday night against Amsterdam, is a graduate of Miami University at Oxford, O., where he starred in the diamond sport. He was signed by Hugh Weiss, scout of the Boston Braves.

O'Brien, who is ticketed to replace Tony Gomez in the Colonial outer garden, has been in Organized Ball for four years.

The acquisition of Bickett and O'Brien, arranged through McDonald's help from the Trautman office, is the second move to bolster the Colonial club for the second half play of the Canadian-American circuit. Earlier this week the club signed Nick Marino, former infielder of Amsterdam, who is currently hitting .438.

McDonald, in reviewing the new moves to strengthen the local club, said "Mr. Trautman's office is determined to give Kingston a much improved ball club for the second round of play in the Canadian-American League. We'll continue to work with local officials to give Kingston a winning club."

More Moves Planned

While local officials were announcing the signing of the Inter-State League players, announcement also was made that Kingston is due to receive another player in the near future. No names have been mentioned but it is reported that the newcomer will be a pitcher.

A new manager also is under consideration at the present time to replace Joel Kern, acting pilot, who is now bedded with pneumonia at the Kingston Hospital.

McDonald, meanwhile, is due to continue daily talks with Colonial officials until Monday. He had originally planned to witness the Kingston-Gloversville tilt at the stadium Friday night.

Locals on Road

This morning the Colonials left town to play single engagements in Rome tonight and Sunday night.

Kingston will return home on Monday for an ambitious schedule starting with Amsterdam Monday and Tuesday. A big holiday twin-bill is carded for the uptown park Wednesday, July 4, when Pittsfield will appear at 2 p. m. and again at 8:30 p. m. A big fireworks display also has been arranged.

Would Dismiss Suit

Cincinnati, June 30 (AP)—Dismissal of a $300,000 damage suit against organized baseball has been asked by Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler and others in the U. S. District Court here. The suit, brought by the El Paso, Tex., baseball club and Jack Corbett, challenges the validity of baseball's reserve clause and charges it is in violation of the Sherman Anti-trust Act. The action was filed April 14 after Chandler ruled the El Paso club, which Corbett headed, was not entitled to the services of seven Mexican players.

Driver Is Suspended

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., June 30 (AP)—Aubrey Rodney, a veteran harness racing driver, has been suspended until July 9 by the judges at Saratoga Raceway for "bearing out in the stretch" in a race Wednesday night. J. W. Gibbons, presiding judge, announced yesterday the suspension for 10 harness racing days. Gibbons said Rodney had been "guilty of bearing out in the stretch and allowing another horse to come through on the rail" in the sixth race Wednesday.

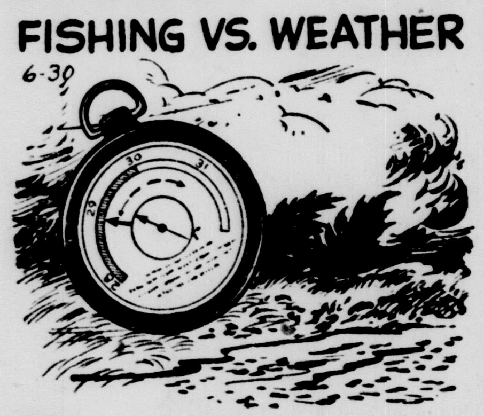
FISHING VS. WEATHER



MANY FISHERMEN DEPEND UPON A BAROMETER READING FOR THE FISHING OUTLOOK. IT IS GENERALLY ACCEPTED THAT WHEN A STORM IS BREWING OR HAS ARRIVED, BASS AND TROUT FISHING IS POOR AND OTHER FISHING SHOULD BE ALSO. HOWEVER, SOME MUSKY, PIKE AND WALLEYE FISHERMEN INSIST THEIR BEST FISHING IS AT SUCH TIMES WHEN LAKES ARE ROUGH!

WHEN THE BAROMETER IS RISING OR READS ABOVE 29.90 (ITS CENTER) FISHING SHOULD BE GOOD. MOST FISHERMEN WILL AGREE THAT A STEADY BAROMETER INDICATES THE BEST FISHING OF ALL.

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

The question of whether Utica will field a team in the Canadian-American League was to be answered today, the deadline for raising funds to finance a club in the Class C circuit.

Promoter Charles Daly set $10,000 as the goal. A total of $2,800 was pledged last Tuesday night at a meeting of Utica fans.

Canadian - American directors said they would be willing to expand the loop from six to eight teams. If Utica sponsored a team, a franchise would be offered to another city.

The four remaining clubs of the Border League had sought a merger with the Can-Am two weeks ago. The Canadian-American directors, however, said they would not increase the loop to 10 clubs.

Two Border League teams—Cornwall and Geneva—quit because of financial difficulties.

Rain washed out the three scheduled games in the Can-Am last night. They were Rome at Pittsfield, Oneonta at Amsterdam and Gloversville at Kingston.

Eyes on Hamilton

Wimbledon, England, June 30 (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., will have to control his nerves as well as his ground strokes today when he shoots for a place in the quarter-finals of the Wimbledon tennis championship. Fifteen thousand pairs of eyes will be glued on Hamilton, the United States junior champion, when he takes to the court against Armanda Vieira of Brazil. Staid Wimbledon officials, impressed with the youngster's giant slaying tactics in eliminating defending champion Budge Paty, have scheduled the match for the famed center court—scene of many of the greatest battles in the history of tennis.

New York, June 30 (AP) — Six youths mixed in a brawl outside a Brooklyn barroom last night and one was stabbed to death. Police identified him as Louis Trinidad, 18, of Brooklyn. They said he and two youths were in the bar when three others entered. The two groups got into an argument and stepped outside to settle it.

THE SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

Who stole the music to the Dodger pennant waltz? The Ebbets Field organ has been hitting clinkers lately.

A week ago the Brooks breezed along with a 6½-game lead. They could do no wrong. Then came Pittsburgh.

Even a double loss Sunday to the Pirates was charged off as one of those things. But you couldn't laugh off losing two or three to the New York Giants. Last night's 3-2 defeat by the Phillies sounded the alarm bell.

Panic is not the word for a club with a 4½ game lead. But by dropping five of their last six, the Dodgers let the pack close in. If they don't right themselves over the weekend, their lead actually will be in danger in the July 4th series with the Giants.

The runnerup Giants, rained out of a night game at Boston, picked up a half game when the Phils knocked off the Brooks behind Robin Roberts' five-hit pitching.

Maybe Manager Eddie Sawyer had the right idea when he read the riot act to some of his too-complacent Phils. For the first time since May 12 the 1950 champs are up to the .500 mark, eight games behind Brooklyn.

Hit Offsets Homers

Ralph Caballero, a utility infielder usually used as a pinch runner, came through with a triple—his first extra base hit of the year—to win the game in the ninth. Caballero's hit plus Del Wilber's two-run homer in the fifth were just enough to offset home runs by Jackie Robinson and Duke Snider. Erv Palica was the loser.

St. Louis and Chicago struggled through nine innings for a 6-6 tie in a game called to let the Cubs catch a train for Cincinnati. Because they played the full nine innings, this is not a "suspended game" but will be completely replayed at a later date. As in all tie games, the individual performances go into the official records.

The Pittsburgh-Cincinnati game was postponed because of wet grounds.

They all played in the American with the Chicago White Sox protecting their precious half-game lead by bumping St. Louis 10-3, for the Browns' ninth straight loss.

Hoping to stretch their advantage in a four-game set with the Brownies while the Yanks and Red Sox tear at each other's throats, the White Sox sent 18 batters to the plate in the first two innings to score eight runs. Howie Judson then coasted home with a seven-hitter to make his record 3-0.

Raschi Stops Bosox

Vic Raschi kept New York right on Chicago's neck by disposing of Boston with three hits, 2-1, in a night game won by Joe DiMaggio's eighth-inning double. It was Raschi's 12th win, high in the American League.

Ted Williams' single in the fourth gave Boston's Maury McDermott an early lead but the Yanks tied in the fifth on Hank Bauer's double and Gil McDougald's single.

A's Cop Pair

Philadelphia, just escaped from the cellar two weeks ago, moved within a half game of sixth-place Washington by dumping the Senators in both ends of a twilight-night doubleheader, 3-2 and 11-5.

Bob Lemon, a sick man with a toothache, pitched Cleveland to a 4-1 edge over Detroit with a six-hitter. Lemon's abscessed tooth was lanced and packed earlier in the day but he became sick to his stomach and had to call time in the sixth with the bases loaded. He walked Charlie Keller to force in the only Tiger run when he returned. That was his only rough spot.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting—Ralph Caballero, Phillies, tripled home Willie Jones in ninth with deciding run in Philadelphia's 3-2 victory over Brooklyn.

Pitching—Vic Raschi, Yankees, pitched New York to 2-1 three-hit victory over Boston for his 12th victory.

Former U. S. Open Champion

On the average course, sloping terrain will necessitate your playing a large percentage of your shots with one foot higher than the other.

Despite the importance of this phase, few really know the proper way to make such a shot.

Playing a downhill lie means your left foot is going to be lower than your right.

The normal rhythm of your swing is going to be somewhat affected by the distribution of your weight.

Definite alternations have to be made in stance and swing to insure a good shot.

An open stance should be used.

The ball is lined up off the right heel because that is where the club will come nearest to the earth if a proper swing is used.

If the ball is too far forward the club will be on the upswing when it makes contact, thereby causing a topped shot.

On the backswing, the club should be brought up more abruptly since the ground will be rising behind the ball and a sweeping motion will cause the club to drag.

With the left foot lower than the right, there is going to be a great deal more weight on it than normally is the case.

Thus there is a strong possibility that the ball will hook if hit properly.

So it is best to aim slightly to the right of the target.

Considering that the ball is being played well to the rear and that you will be hitting down into the ball at the moment of impact, a club with a loft should be used.

That is, a club with more loft than would be used if the shot were being played on level ground.

Remember that you are pointing downhill and it is going to be necessary to get the ball well into the air.

A club with loft is the only thing that can achieve this.

NEXT: Lloyd Mangrum plays an uphill lie.

PGA Championship May Hinge on Today's Play

Oakmont, Pa., June 30 (AP)—Although the tourney of talented golf teachers has four days to go, there's a hunch around Oakmont that the 33rd PGA championship might hinge on one of today's 36-hole matches.

The feature of the eight marathons—now that the disastrous 18-holders are out of the way—is between those two Goliaths of golf, Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., and lithe Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill.

Sam, who survived a battle of the bug rhubarb yesterday to stay in the scrap, won the crown in 1942 and 1949, and was runner-up in 1938 and 1940.

Mangrum, 1946 National Open champ, is the year's leading money winner and his putter is smoking. He's never been too close in the PGA—and this may be his year.

Yesterday's 18-hole dashes exacted a heavy toll. Only 16 of the 64 qualifiers survived, and among the victims were the defending champ, Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., two of the three comedalists, four former winners and six ex-finalists.

Breaks World Record

Westbury, N. Y., June 30 (AP)—Star's Pride, speedy four-year-old colt owned by E. Roland Harriman and Lawrence Sheppard, broke a week-old world record last night as he paced 1½ miles in 3:06 1/5 at Roosevelt Raceway's Grand Circuit meeting. Driven by Harry Pownall, the son of Worthy Boy took the lead after the first mile and won by three lengths to take down the major share of the $10,000 David H. McConnell Memorial trot purse.

Tourney to Continue

Forest Hills, N. Y., June 30 (AP)—Defending Champion Pancho Segura of Ecuador crosses rackets with Frank Parker and Jack Kramer meets Welby Van Horn today in the National Professional tennis championships. As a result of the matches being postponed again yesterday, Promoter Bobby Riggs announced that the tournament would continue until Wednesday.

TV Battle Resumes

Philadelphia, June 30 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania again has kicked off the college football television controversy—and the battle of words gets tougher. The dispute remains stalled at midfield, however, with neither side gaining advantage nor giving ground. Penn's athletic director, Franny Murray, yesterday launched the new offensive against the plan of the National Collegiate Athletic Association NCAA) to control live football TV for 1951. He made public a letter disclosing that the Justice Department denied it had ever approved, formally or informally, the NCAA ban.

Eight Drivers Already Entered in Event

Don Whitfield, of Montclair, N. J., rated as the country's leading Class M hydroplane driver, has predicted that his class will be the outstanding feature of the 10th annual Kingston Regatta sponsored by the Kingston Power Boat Association, Inc., Sunday, July 8, on the Rondout Creek.

Whitfield himself, always a popular figure in the local regatta, heads the list of eight entries already received for this event.

Included in the early arrivals are entries from three women.

They include Joan Marie Mente, of Cranford, N. J., a newcomer to the local scene; Midge Clarke, of New Haven, Conn., another local favorite; and Jean Perkins, Mt. Kisco, winner of the 1950 high point award for New York state.

The remaining drivers in this class, in addition to Whitfield are Ed Major, of West Warwick, R. I., Bruno Pierguidi, North Bergen, N. J., Skip Grevatt and David Crowe, both of Montclair, N. J.

Major also is entered in Class A and Class B hydroplanes and the free-for-all hydroplane events.

Colonials Sign New First Sacker, Outfielder; Play Here Monday

Newcomers to Replace Wojcik and Klinger

Although rain postponed the second and getaway game between the Kingston Colonials and Gloversville Friday night at the municipal stadium, there was plenty of action in the front office of the local Canadian-American League club.

Local officials, meeting with George McDonald, representative of George M. Trautman, president-treasurer of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, came away from the session with heartening news that two new players will be in Kingston next Monday night.

The two newcomers were identified as Jack Bickett, first baseman, who has been a member of the first place Hagerstown club of the Inter-State League.

The other is William O'Brien, also of Hagerstown, who is listed as an outfielder.

Two Are Released

Meanwhile, local moguls reported that Brownie Wojcik, infielder-outfielder-catcher, has been given his release to allow him to continue studies at St. Lawrence University. Also getting the pink slip yesterday was "Red" Klinger, first baseman, who was hitting .211 including games of June 27.

Bickett, who will replace Klinger at first in Kingston's next home game Monday night against Amsterdam, is a graduate of Miami University at Oxford, O., where he starred in the diamond sport. He was signed by Hugh Weiss, scout of the Boston Braves.

O'Brien, who is ticketed to replace Tony Gomez in the Colonial outer garden, has been in Organized Ball for four years.

The acquisition of Bickett and O'Brien, arranged through McDonald's help from the Trautman office, is the second move to bolster the Colonial club for the second half play of the Canadian-American circuit. Earlier this week the club signed Nick Marino, former infielder of Amsterdam, who is currently hitting .438.

McDonald, in reviewing the new moves to strengthen the local club, said "Mr. Trautman's office is determined to give Kingston a much improved ball club for the second round of play in the Canadian-American League. We'll continue to work with local officials to give Kingston a winning club."

More Moves Planned

While local officials were announcing the signing of the Inter-State League players, announcement also was made that Kingston is due to receive another player in the near future. No names have been mentioned but it is reported that the newcomer will be a pitcher.

A new manager also is under consideration at the present time to replace Joel Kern, acting pilot, who is now bedded with pneumonia at the Kingston Hospital.

McDonald, meanwhile, is due to continue daily talks with Colonial officials until Monday. He had originally planned to witness the Kingston-Gloversville tilt at the stadium Friday night.

Locals on Road

This morning the Colonials left town to play single engagements in Rome tonight and Sunday night.

Kingston will return home on Monday for an ambitious schedule starting with Amsterdam Monday and Tuesday. A big holiday twin-bill is carded for the uptown park Wednesday, July 4, when Pittsfield will appear at 2 p. m. and again at 8:30 p. m. A big fireworks display also has been arranged.

Would Dismiss Suit

Cincinnati, June 30 (AP)—Dismissal of a $300,000 damage suit against organized baseball has been asked by Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler and others in the U. S. District Court here. The suit, brought by the El Paso, Tex., baseball club and Jack Corbett, challenges the validity of baseball's reserve clause and charges it is in violation of the Sherman Anti-trust Act. The action was filed April 14 after Chandler ruled the El Paso club, which Corbett headed, was not entitled to the services of seven Mexican players.

Driver Is Suspended

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., June 30 (AP)—Aubrey Rodney, a veteran harness racing driver, has been suspended until July 9 by the judges at Saratoga Raceway for "bearing out in the stretch" in a race Wednesday night. J. W. Gibbons, presiding judge, announced yesterday the suspension for 10 harness racing days. Gibbons said Rodney had been "guilty of bearing out in the stretch and allowing another horse to come through on the rail" in the sixth race Wednesday.

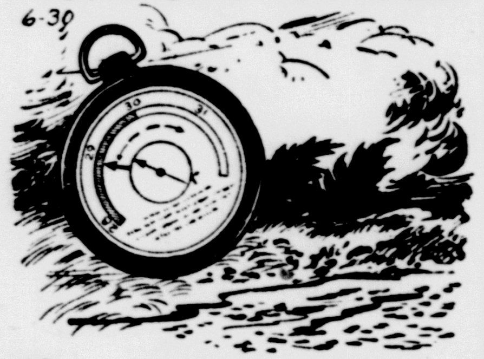
FISHING VS. WEATHER



MANY FISHERMEN DEPEND UPON A BAROMETER READING FOR THE FISHING OUTLOOK. IT IS GENERALLY ACCEPTED THAT WHEN A STORM IS BREWING OR HAS ARRIVED, BASS AND TROUT FISHING IS POOR AND OTHER FISHING SHOULD BE ALSO. HOWEVER, SOME MUSKY, PIKE AND WALLEYE FISHERMEN INSIST THEIR BEST FISHING IS AT SUCH TIMES WHEN LAKES ARE ROUGH!

WHEN THE BAROMETER IS RISING OR READS ABOVE 29.90 (ITS CENTER) FISHING SHOULD BE GOOD. MOST FISHERMEN WILL AGREE THAT A STEADY BAROMETER INDICATES THE BEST FISHING OF ALL.

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

The question of whether Utica will field a team in the Canadian-American League was to be answered today, the deadline for raising funds to finance a club in the Class C circuit.

Promoter Charles Daly set $10,000 as the goal. A total of $2,800 was pledged last Tuesday night at a meeting of Utica fans.

Canadian - American directors said they would be willing to expand the loop from six to eight teams. If Utica sponsored a team, a franchise would be offered to another city.

The four remaining clubs of the Border League had sought a merger with the Can-Am two weeks ago. The Canadian-American directors, however, said they would not increase the loop to 10 clubs.

Two Border League teams—Cornwall and Geneva—quit because of financial difficulties.

Rain washed out the three scheduled games in the Can-Am last night. They were Rome at Pittsfield, Oneonta at Amsterdam and Gloversville at Kingston.

Eyes on Hamilton

Wimbledon, England, June 30 (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., will have to control his nerves as well as his ground strokes today when he shoots for a place in the quarter-finals of the Wimbledon tennis championship. Fifteen thousand pairs of eyes will be glued on Hamilton, the United States junior champion, when he takes to the court against Armanda Vieira of Brazil. Staid Wimbledon officials, impressed with the youngster's giant slaying tactics in eliminating defending champion Budge Paty, have scheduled the match for the famed center court—scene of many of the greatest battles in the history of tennis.

Stabbed to Death

New York, June 30 (AP) — Six youths mixed in a brawl outside a Brooklyn barroom last night and one was stabbed to death. Police identified him as Louis Trinidad, 18, of Brooklyn. They said he and two youths were in the bar when three others entered. The two groups got into an argument and stepped outside to settle it.

THE SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

Who stole the music to the Dodger pennant waltz? The Ebbets Field organ has been hitting clinkers lately.

A week ago the Brooks breezed along with a 6½-game lead. They could do no wrong. Then came Pittsburgh.

Even a double loss Sunday to the Pirates was charged off as one of those things. But you couldn't laugh off losing two or three to the New York Giants. Last night's 3-2 defeat by the Phillies sounded the alarm bell.

Panic is not the word for a club with a 4½ game lead. But by dropping five of their last six, the Dodgers let the pack close in. If they don't right themselves over the weekend, their lead actually will be in danger in the July 4th series with the Giants.

The runnerup Giants, rained out of a night game at Boston, picked up a half game when the Phils knocked off the Brooks behind Robin Roberts' five-hit pitching.

Maybe Manager Eddie Sawyer had the right idea when he read the riot act to some of his too-complacent Phils. For the first time since May 12 the 1950 champs are up to the .500 mark, eight games behind Brooklyn.

Hit Offsets Homers

Ralph Caballero, a utility infielder usually used as a pinch runner, came through with a triple—his first extra base hit of the year—to win the game in the ninth. Caballero's hit plus Del Wilber's two-run homer in the fifth were just enough to offset home runs by Jackie Robinson and Duke Snider. Erv Palica was the loser.

St. Louis and Chicago struggled through nine innings for a 6-6 tie in a game called to let the Cubs catch a train for Cincinnati. Because they played the full nine innings, this is not a "suspended game" but will be completely replayed at a later date. As in all tie games, the individual performances go into the official records.

The Pittsburgh-Cincinnati game was postponed because of wet grounds.

They all played in the American with the Chicago White Sox protecting their precious half-game lead by bumping St. Louis 10-3, for the Browns' ninth straight loss.

Hoping to stretch their advantage in a four-game set with the Brownies while the Yanks and Red Sox tear at each other's throats, the White Sox sent 18 batters to the plate in the first two innings to score eight runs. Howie Judson then coasted home with a seven-hitter to make his record 3-0.

Raschi Stops Bosox

Vic Raschi kept New York right on Chicago's neck by disposing of Boston with three hits, 2-1, in a night game won by Joe DiMaggio's eighth-inning double. It was Raschi's 12th win, high in the American League.

Ted Williams' single in the fourth gave Boston's Maury McDermott an early lead but the Yanks tied in the fifth on Hank Bauer's double and Gil McDougald's single.

A's Cop Pair

Philadelphia, just escaped from the cellar two weeks ago, moved within a half game of sixth-place Washington by dumping the Senators in both ends of a twilight-night doubleheader, 3-2 and 11-5.

Bob Lemon, a sick man with a toothache, pitched Cleveland to a 4-1 edge over Detroit with a six-hitter. Lemon's abscessed tooth was lanced and packed earlier in the day but he became sick to his stomach and had to call time in the sixth with the bases loaded. He walked Charlie Keller to force in the only Tiger run when he returned. That was his only rough spot.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting—Ralph Caballero, Phillies, tripled home Willie Jones in ninth with deciding run in Philadelphia's 3-2 victory over Brooklyn.

Pitching—Vic Raschi, Yankees, pitched New York to 2-1 three-hit victory over Boston for his 12th victory.

Former U. S. Open Champion

On the average course, sloping terrain will necessitate your playing a large percentage of your shots with one foot higher than the other.

Despite the importance of this phase, few really know the proper way to make such a shot.

Playing a downhill lie means your left foot is going to be lower than your right.

The normal rhythm of your swing is going to be somewhat affected by the distribution of your weight.

Definite alternations have to be made in stance and swing to insure a good shot.

An open stance should be used.

The ball is lined up off the right heel because that is where the club will come nearest to the earth if a proper swing is used.

If the ball is too far forward the club will be on the upswing when it makes contact, thereby causing a topped shot.

On the backswing, the club should be brought up more abruptly since the ground will be rising behind the ball and a sweeping motion will cause the club to drag.

With the left foot lower than the right, there is going to be a great deal more weight on it than normally is the case.

Thus there is a strong possibility that the ball will hook if hit properly.

So it is best to aim slightly to the right of the target.

Considering that the ball is being played well to the rear and that you will be hitting down into the ball at the moment of impact, a club with a loft should be used.

That is, a club with more loft than would be used if the shot were being played on level ground.

Remember that you are pointing downhill and it is going to be necessary to get the ball well into the air.

A club with loft is the only thing that can achieve this.

NEXT: Lloyd Mangrum plays an uphill lie.

PGA Championship May Hinge on Today's Play

Oakmont, Pa., June 30 (AP)—Although the tourney of talented golf teachers has four days to go, there's a hunch around Oakmont that the 33rd PGA championship might hinge on one of today's 36-hole matches.

The feature of the eight marathons—now that the disastrous 18-holders are out of the way—is between those two Goliaths of golf, Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., and lithe Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill.

Sam, who survived a battle of the bug rhubarb yesterday to stay in the scrap, won the crown in 1942 and 1949, and was runner-up in 1938 and 1940.

Mangrum, 1946 National Open champ, is the year's leading money winner and his putter is smoking. He's never been too close in the PGA—and this may be his year.

Yesterday's 18-hole dashes exacted a heavy toll. Only 16 of the 64 qualifiers survived, and among the victims were the defending champ, Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., two of the three comedalists, four former winners and six ex-finalists.

Breaks World Record

Westbury, N. Y., June 30 (AP)—Star's Pride, speedy four-year-old colt owned by E. Roland Harriman and Lawrence Sheppard, broke a week-old world record last night as he paced 1½ miles in 3:06 1/5 at Roosevelt Raceway's Grand Circuit meeting. Driven by Harry Pownall, the son of Worthy Boy took the lead after the first mile and won by three lengths to take down the major share of the $10,000 David H. McConnell Memorial trot purse.

Tourney to Continue

Forest Hills, N. Y., June 30 (AP)—Defending Champion Pancho Segura of Ecuador crosses rackets with Frank Parker and Jack Kramer meets Welby Van Horn today in the National Professional tennis championships. As a result of the matches being postponed again yesterday, Promoter Bobby Riggs announced that the tournament would continue until Wednesday.

Reading, Pa.—Betty Jameson of San Antonio shot a 32-38—70 to take first round lead in the Eastern Women's Open.

Evanston, Ill.—Tony Trabert and Buddy Igel of Cincinnati moved into the semi-finals of the NCAA tournament.

Charlottesville, Va.—Top-seeded Tim Coss of Bethesda, Md., was eliminated in the National Interscholastic Tournament.

Philadelphia—The Justice Department told the U. of Pennsylvania it had ordered an investigation of televising college football games.

Ogden, Utah—Richard Conway, Twin Falls catcher, was injured fatally when he was struck by a ball in the chest during pre-game warmup.

TV Battle Resumes

Philadelphia, June 30 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania again has kicked off the college football television controversy—and the battle of words gets tougher. The dispute remains stalled at midfield, however, with neither side gaining advantage nor giving ground. Penn's athletic director, Franny Murray, yesterday launched the new offensive against the plan of the National Collegiate Athletic Association NCAA) to control live football TV for 1951. He made public a letter disclosing that the Justice Department denied it had ever approved, formally or informally, the NCAA ban.

Eight Drivers Already Entered in Event

Don Whitfield, of Montclair, N. J., rated as the country's leading Class M hydroplane driver, has predicted that his class will be the outstanding feature of the 10th annual Kingston Regatta sponsored by the Kingston Power Boat Association, Inc., Sunday, July 8, on the Rondout Creek.

Whitfield himself, always a popular figure in the local regatta, heads the list of eight entries already received for this event.

Included in the early arrivals are entries from three women.

They include Joan Marie Mente, of Cranford, N. J., a newcomer to the local scene; Midge Clarke, of New Haven, Conn., another local favorite; and Jean Perkins, Mt. Kisco, winner of the 1950 high point award for New York state.

The remaining drivers in this class, in addition to Whitfield are Ed Major, of West Warwick, R. I., Bruno Pierguidi, North Bergen, N. J., Skip Grevatt and David Crowe, both of Montclair, N. J.

Major also is entered in Class A and Class B hydroplanes and the free-for-all hydroplane events.

Honorary Judges

Neil Bruck, chairman of the regatta committee, today named the following list of honorary judges for the annual July affair:

Kingston Colonials Pull First Triple Play in Can-Am League Since 1949

Support These Players During the Second Half Schedule Which Gets Underway During July

There's NOTHING like seeing it for yourself!

There's nothing that ever captures the excitement of a good baseball game like being there and seeing it for yourself!

There is no substitute for the real enjoyment you get from actually watching a player slide into 'home', or pitch a tight ball game, or catch a fly on the tip of his glove, or sacrifice to bring in a winning run. Yes, being there makes you part of the game . . . and that's where the real thrill comes in.

A number of public-spirited citizens have made great effort to have Kingston represented in the Canadian-American League. Their efforts should be supported whole-heartedly. Under the banner of the Kingston Colonials, these young players give their very best in the hope of making the 'big time.'

But there's more to baseball than the mere enjoyment of it. There is also our responsibility to give support and encouragement to our local baseball team so that as a community we will be playing an active part in the development of a truly American sport . . . from right here at home.

The Colonials are about to enter upon their second half schedule, which should result in many exciting games. So make it a regular habit to join your friends at the Municipal Stadium and spend some very pleasant evenings in the cool out-of-doors proudly cheering your Kingston Colonials to victory.

Remember, there's nothing like being there and seeing the game for yourself!

The Kingston Colonials are part of the Canadian-American League with teams from the cities of Amsterdam, Pittsfield, Gloversville, Oneonta and Rome.

Kidnapping Scare Is Terminated Quickly

Friday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock there was great excitement in the village of Kerhonkson when Mrs. Virginia Schonger saw a blue Chevrolet car drive off with her 4½-year-old son, Donald.

A call was sent to the sheriff's office, State Police and Ellenville police were alerted. County Investigator Leonard Belmore and Deputy Sheriff Carl Cline went to Kerhonkson and troopers from the Wurtsboro station were dispatched to Kerhonkson through the Lake Katrine barracks.

The excitement terminated quickly when it was found the lad had been picked up by a friend of the family and taken to Ellenville for a ride. The operator of the car innocently took the lad under the impression Mrs. Schonger knew him when he picked up the lad and waved to Mrs. Schonger. It was reported the lad had been taken for a ride previously by the same driver.

aluminum which are 30 to 50 per cent lower than the prices now being charged. A multi-million dollar saving to taxpayers is expected, because defense plants are heavy buyers of the metal. DiSalle acted at the request of the armed forces, he said.

Extension of the Defense Production Act beyond today would give Congress a breathing spell in which to write without feverish rush a new controls law to become effective Aug. 1.

However, the lawmakers appear bent on imposing drastic limitations—possibly total prohibitions—on further price rollbacks, and placing a heavy restraining hand on how far DiSalle may go in fixing price ceilings.

Spare Tires Return

Meanwhile the juggling of existing federal controls continued. As first-half 1951 ended, the National Production Authority:

1. Announced it probably will restore the spare tire to new automobiles by September or sooner—but only because there will be 300,000 fewer cars manufactured in the next quarter than in the last.

2. Cut by another five per cent the number of beer cans for brewers, to save tin. Seventy per cent of pre-Korea usage now will be permitted. The can supply is not limited for most food products.

And tomorrow, industrial America returns to the wartime system of rationing scarce metal—steel, copper and aluminum—to essential materials plan (CMP). CMP, acclaimed by some businessmen and denounced by others, will supercede the priority system which, officials say, has begun to break down because of shortages.

quate guarantees for the maintenance of such armistice.

"Upon receipt of word from you that such a meeting is desired, I shall be prepared to name my representatives.

"I would also at that time suggest a date at which he could meet with your representatives. I propose that such a meeting could take place aboard a Danish hospital ship in Wonsan harbor."

Wonsan is on the northeast coast, about 80 miles north of Parallel 38. An allied force landed there last fall in the drive to the Yalu river boundary of Manchuria.

Red China's entry into the bloody conflict forced abandonment of the port. United Nations warships began shelling it when the Reds reentered, and kept up the bombardment 134 days through Friday.

It was the longest bombardment in U. S. naval history.

Bloody War

An armistice would bring to a halt a bloody war that began slightly more than a year ago.

Communist casualties since the June 25, 1950, invasion of South Korea through last June 20 were estimated at 1,185,465. Of those, 860,300 were killed or wounded in battle, 163,061 were taken prisoner and 162,103 were noncombat casualties.

United States casualties through June 22 were reported at 76,749, including 12,670 dead and 10,680 missing.

At U. S. Eighth Army headquarters, news of Ridgway's message was cheered by soldiers outside the office of Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U.N. field commander.

But at the front, Correspondent George McArthur reported "the typical foxhole view is: 'I won't believe it until I'm on a boat for home.'"

McArthur added wryly: "Red mortars make it difficult for a man to get the 'big picture.'"

United Nations positions extend from points along Parallel 38, in western Korea, to ridgelines some 20 to 25 miles north of the old political boundary in central and eastern Korea.

A cease-fire agreement that called for withdrawal of both sides to the Parallel would mean the UN allies would yield nearly 2,000 square miles of North Korean territory.

President Syngman Rhee of the South Korean Republic and members of his cabinet had said previously they were opposed vigorously to any decision that would end the war at the 38th Parallel.

After being informed officially of Ridgway's message, Rhee conferred with his cabinet.

Rhee made no statement immediately.

The war has left virtually all Korea in ruins. The fighting, aerial bombing and naval shelling have smashed her cities and villages. Millions are homeless.

Losing Fight Seen

night into the morning. A pall of smoke hung over Bankkok from a burning oil pump set afire by an aerial bomb.

Turner said both sides have suffered heavy casualties.

He was in the middle of the ground fighting. The highway outside Turner's home was the corridor of fire. The navy fought from Lumphini Park on one side. The army was on the other firing from positions in the Royal Bangkok Sports Club.

The U. S. Embassy was hit four times during the night.

The navy announced it had set up a new government headed by retired army officer Phra Sarasas Praphan.

Floods in China

Taipeh, Formosa, June 30 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry today reported heavy floods in south China's Kwangtung province. The ministry said 500,000 hunger-stricken refugees were on the move in an attempt to escape the raging waters.

The increase, according to Attorney Martocci, would mean roughly about $700 a man, in some cases slightly less and in a few perhaps slightly more.

Kidnapping Scare Is Terminated Quickly

Friday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock there was great excitement in the village of Kerhonkson when Mrs. Virginia Schonger saw a blue Chevrolet car drive off with her 4½-year-old son, Donald.

A call was sent to the sheriff's office, State Police and Ellenville police were alerted. County Investigator Leonard Belmore and Deputy Sheriff Carl Cline went to Kerhonkson and troopers from the Wurtsboro station were dispatched to Kerhonkson through the Lake Katrine barracks.

The excitement terminated quickly when it was found the lad had been picked up by a friend of the family and taken to Ellenville for a ride. The operator of the car innocently took the lad under the impression Mrs. Schonger knew him when he picked up the lad and waved to Mrs. Schonger. It was reported the lad had been taken for a ride previously by the same driver.

Truman Expected

aluminum which are 30 to 50 per cent lower than the prices now being charged. A multi-million dollar saving to taxpayers is expected, because defense plants are heavy buyers of the metal. DiSalle acted at the request of the armed forces, he said.

Extension of the Defense Production Act beyond today would give Congress a breathing spell in which to write without feverish rush a new controls law to become effective Aug. 1.

However, the lawmakers appear bent on imposing drastic limitations—possibly total prohibitions—on further price rollbacks, and placing a heavy restraining hand on how far DiSalle may go in fixing price ceilings.

Spare Tires Return

Meanwhile the juggling of existing federal controls continued. As first-half 1951 ended, the National Production Authority:

1. Announced it probably will restore the spare tire to new automobiles by September or sooner—but only because there will be 300,000 fewer cars manufactured in the next quarter than in the last.

2. Cut by another five per cent the number of beer cans for brewers, to save tin. Seventy per cent of pre-Korea usage now will be permitted. The can supply is not limited for most food products.

And tomorrow, industrial America returns to the wartime system of rationing scarce metal—steel, copper and aluminum—to essential materials plan (CMP). CMP, acclaimed by some businessmen and denounced by others, will supercede the priority system which, officials say, has begun to break down because of shortages.

quate guarantees for the maintenance of such armistice.

"Upon receipt of word from you that such a meeting is desired, I shall be prepared to name my representatives.

"I would also at that time suggest a date at which he could meet with your representatives. I propose that such a meeting could take place aboard a Danish hospital ship in Wonsan harbor."

Wonsan is on the northeast coast, about 80 miles north of Parallel 38. An allied force landed there last fall in the drive to the Yalu river boundary of Manchuria.

Red China's entry into the bloody conflict forced abandonment of the port. United Nations warships began shelling it when the Reds reentered, and kept up the bombardment 134 days through Friday.

It was the longest bombardment in U. S. naval history.

Bloody War

An armistice would bring to a halt a bloody war that began slightly more than a year ago.

Communist casualties since the June 25, 1950, invasion of South Korea through last June 20 were estimated at 1,185,465. Of those, 860,300 were killed or wounded in battle, 163,061 were taken prisoner and 162,103 were noncombat casualties.

United States casualties through June 22 were reported at 76,749, including 12,670 dead and 10,680 missing.

At U. S. Eighth Army headquarters, news of Ridgway's message was cheered by soldiers outside the office of Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U.N. field commander.

But at the front, Correspondent George McArthur reported "the typical foxhole view is: 'I won't believe it until I'm on a boat for home.'"

McArthur added wryly: "Red mortars make it difficult for a man to get the 'big picture.'"

United Nations positions extend from points along Parallel 38, in western Korea, to ridgelines some 20 to 25 miles north of the old political boundary in central and eastern Korea.

A cease-fire agreement that called for withdrawal of both sides to the Parallel would mean the UN allies would yield nearly 2,000 square miles of North Korean territory.

President Syngman Rhee of the South Korean Republic and members of his cabinet had said previcusly they were opposed vigorously to any decision that would end the war at the 38th Parallel.

After being informed officially of Ridgway's message, Rhee conferred with his cabinet.

Rhee made no statement immediately.

The war has left virtually all Korea in ruins. The fighting, aerial bombing and naval shelling have smashed her cities and villages. Millions are homeless.

Losing Fight Seen

night into the morning. A pall of smoke hung over Bankkok from a burning oil pump set afire by an aerial bomb.

Turner said both sides have suffered heavy casualties.

He was in the middle of the ground fighting. The highway outside Turner's home was the corridor of fire. The navy fought from Lumphini Park on one side. The army was on the other firing from positions in the Royal Bangkok Sports Club.

The U. S. Embassy was hit four times during the night.

The navy announced it had set up a new government headed by retired army officer Phra Sarasas Praphan.

Floods in China

Taipeh, Formosa, June 30 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry today reported heavy floods in south China's Kwangtung province. The ministry said 500,000 hunger-stricken refugees were on the move in an attempt to escape the raging waters.
